PROGRESS IS REPORTED IN REACHING A SETTLEMENT IN SOFT COAL STRIKE

Many GOP Senators Line Up against Strike-Draft Proposal of President

Two Democratic Senators Said To Have Appealed Personally to Chief Executive To Withdraw Request if the Coal Strike Is Settled Soon; Senate May Reach Vote Sometime Today

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — Many Senate Republicans lined up against President Truman's strike-draft proposal tonight, and it was reported that two Democratic senators had appealed personally to the chief executive to withdraw the request if the coal strike is settled soon.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), leaving a two-hour conference of Senate Republicans, said there was "very general support" for elimination of the labor-draft authority from the far-reaching strike-curb legislation requested in the president's address to a joint congressional session Saturday.

Persons in a position to know, but who cannot be named said Senators Wheeler (D-Mont) and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) had called at the White Hoose to urge Mr. Truman to drop that partilular demand, upon which the greater part of the Senate opposition has been focused.

May Vote Today

Meanwhile, a chance developed that the Senate may reach a vote tomorrow on the labor-draft controversy.

Taft said that the Republicans would not attempt to delay a showdown, adding that so far as the minority members were concerned, a vote could be reached during the day.

Another Senate conference brought together leaders of the group which has been fighting against any "restrictive" labor legislation. This group met in the office of Chairman Murray (D-Mont).

The members reported they talked over the general situation but reached no decisions. "Everything is up in the air now," Murray commented to reporters.

Meeting with him were Senators Wagner (D-NY), Mead (D-NY), Thomas (D-Utah), Pepper (D-Fla), Mitchell (D-Wash) and Guffey (D-Pa.)

Murray said he found considerable Senate sentiment for an idea he had advanced — that unions agree to a six months strike truce in return for a presidential veto of the Case bill and withdrawal of the president's request for emergency labor legislation.

Some senators said privately, however, that they saw some practical objections to this plan. One is the question whether all CIO and AFL unions would back up such a pledge from CIO President Philip Murray and AFL Chief William Green even if they were agreeable to it.

Public Should Know What Is Going On, Mrs. Roosevelt Says

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP) — Freedom of information is an absolute necessity to enforce human rights, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told the United Nations Economic and Social Council today.

"It is only the free information of what happens to people throughout the world which can form a basis for public opinion," she said in presenting the report of her commission on human rights recommending a twelve-man group to study the information question.

Mrs. Roosevelt added that "it is public opinion which will really make it possible to enforce any bill of human rights."

She stressed that her commission felt that freedom of information included radio, movies, books, magazines and the press and that it felt "This was the one absolute necessity" to really drafting such a bill.

After hearing this report and others from the commission on the status of women the temporary social commission and the economic and employment commission the council adjourned until Friday. It hopes to complete its work by June 18 or 20.

Meanwhile the Security Council's sub-committee investigating Franco Spain reported it would complete its report on Friday, the deadline set by the council. It announced it would cease receiving evidence Thursday.

Dr. Pedro Leao Velloso, Brazilian member on the sub-committee, submitted communications advising the group that none of the diplomats accredited to Madrid had any evidence of war criminals being harbored in that country. Such charges had been laid before the sub-committee by Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate, and Jose Giral, premier of the exiled Spanish Republican government.

Catholics Accused By Presbyterians Of Seeking Favor

Report Says Hierarchy Presses for Favored Position in U. S.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 28 (AP)—Presbyterian church in the United States of America took the Roman Catholic church to task today for allegedly "pressing claims for a favored position" in the United States.

The 880 commissioners to the Presbyterian one-hundred and fifty-eighth general assembly, already on record against continuation of official relationship between the United States and the Vatican, approved a report which said aggressiveness on the part of the hierarchy of the Catholic church "at times involves political action and pressures upon sources of public opinion and public policy."

The report, submitted by Dr. Morris C. Robinson, Minneapolis, Minn., said:

"There are certain tendencies within the United States, which if given full expression would curtail the religious freedom which we as a nation enjoy.

Say Issue Exists

"There is no virtue or gain either in concealing or in magnifying the issue that exists between ourselves as protestants and our fellow christians of the Roman Catholic church.

"We raise it at this time in the confidence that by free and friendly discussion the cause of mutual understanding and of democracy will be best served.

"We refer particularly to the aggressiveness of the Roman Catholic church in pressing claims for a favored position for itself as a church."

The report said that the true head of the christian church was Jesus Christ and not a state official or an ecclesiastical hierarchy.

The commissioners called on President Truman to grant immediate amnesty to 3,000 conscientious objectors still in federal prisons.

"Whatever justification or excuse there may have been for imprisoning these men during the war, we hold that there is not justification now for further imprisonment," said a report approved by the commissioners.

Presidential amnesty was necessary, the report said, because many of the conscientious objectors would be listed as "felons" in their home states and would be deprived of civil rights.

The assembly went on record as opposed to:

Flood Relief Seen As Susquehanna River Hits Crest

Elmira Reports Chemung River Dropping; Ten Lives Claimed

[By The Associated Press]

Waters of the surging Susquehanna river crested at 30 feet 10 inches at Williamsport last night (Tuesday), 8.5 feet above flood level, relieving one of the communities hit hardest by a flood which spread over South-Central New York and North-Central Pennsylvania, taking at least ten lives and causing thousands of dollars of property damage.

Elmira, New York community of 50,000, also reported the Chemung river dropping at the rate of one foot every three hours, with three feet left in the downtown section.

George LaMade, publisher of the Williamsport Grit, reported late last night the situation in that community of approximately 43,000 was under control and local disaster agencies are able to handle all relief. He said there was no food shortage and no need for power boats or militia.

The Red Cross chapter in Williamsport reported from 1,000 to 1,200 persons were furnished relief and temporary shelter in three junior high schools. Its disaster committee expected to be able to close out activities before morning, it added.

R. F. Williamson of the Grit said the conditions in Williamsport were not as bad as previously reported. Public utilities were maintained and no lives were lost in the city, he said.

Property damage will not reach the figures for the 1936 flood, Williamson said. He reported the crest reached last night was 4½ feet less than that of 1936.

West of Williamsport the river also crested at Lock Haven, Jersey Shore and Renovo, Pa.

The Chemung river, four feet above flood stage at its mid-afternoon peak of twenty-one feet, flowed over a third of Elmira, virtually inundating the area and disrupting utilities. Showers halted briefly after a forty-eight hour downpour, then resumed.

All but one of the highways into Elmira were closed. The coast guard in New York said radio men, trucks and portable radios for use in boats were being sent to handle emergency communications.

The army released "ducks"—amphibious trucks—for flood relief at Williamsport.

Port Deposit Is Struck by Flood

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., May 28—(AP)—State police notified residents of this community bordering the Susquehanna river tonight to prepare for a flood which they said would inundate some main streets.

The first warning that went out over the state police teletype was that the water was expected to rise to 12 or 13 feet in some sections of the town, but later state police said that the river was expected to rise that high above normal.

State Police Lieutenant Menash Katz in Baltimore said that the force had been informed by the Philadelphia Electric Company, which operates Conowingo dam, that the Susquehanna river would leave its banks shortly.

(In Philadelphia, officials of the Philadelphia Electric Company said the plant manager of the Conowingo Dam Hydro-Generating Plant did not expect the flow of water to reach more than eighty per cent of the crest of the 1936 flood. The company said that meant there would be some water in Port Deposit's streets but "nothing like 12 to 13 feet.")

Immediate preparations to close U. S. Route 222, and State Routes 269 and 276 in the area have been made.

The crest of the flood is due about midnight tomorrow, the state police said.

Indian Maid's Life Is at Stake In Seminoles "Green Corn Dance"

By ROGER GREENE

MIAMI Fla., May 28 (AP) — Deep in the wild sawgrass of the Everglades, tribal members of South Florida's Seminoles were holding their secret and mysterious "green corn dance" tonight — with life or death in the balance.

Where they are meeting is known only to the Indians.

Still technically at war with the United States, as they have been for the last century, the Seminoles conduct their eleven-day councils in seclusion from the white man.

Their laws are their own, and their justice is meted out by tribal standards.

Annually in the "small moon," when the bright scimitar of the new moon first cuts across the skies, the Seminoles gather for the half-joyous, half-solemn powwow—to fest, to dance, to pray for fertility of the soil, and pass judgment on the evil.

Girl's Life at Stake

At stake tonight was the life of a 17-year-old Indian maiden whose grave offense, as viewed by the elders, was to fall in love with a white youth and have a child by him.

"The boy worked in the 'glades near the Seminoles and fell desperately in love with the Indian girl," said O. B. White, Miami attorney for the tribe and honorary chieftain.

"When the child came, there was

SIGN AGREEMENT FOR LOAN TO FRANCE

Declares End of Hostilities Makes Early Primary Unnecessary

BALTIMORE, May 28 (AP)—William Preston Lane, Jr., candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, urged Governor O'Conor today to consider calling a special session of the legislature to provide for additional registration of voters before the primary election June 24.

Lane said that his state ticket, James J. Lacy for comptroller and Hall Hammond, candidate for attorney general, joined in the suggestion.

Many thousands of citizens, including war veterans, "are being deprived of an opportunity to participate in the Democratic and Republican primary elections" Lane said.

"The change in the accustomed date for state primaries from September to the preceding June was enacted for the benefit of those absent with the armed forces," Lane said in a letter to O'Conor.

"Since the law was passed, hostilities have ended, and many of those who were abroad have returned, so that the early primary is in fact unnecessary. However, many of those who have returned or are now returning have had no real opportunity too affiliate with a political party or change their affiliation, as they may desire.

"It has been pointed out that many of those who cast absentee ballots in the election of 1944 became automatically registered, but did not then state a party preference because they were voting in a general election. Unless these veterans have since affiliated with a political party, or are given a fair opportunity to affiliate, they are barred from participating in the primary elections."

Lane also declared "that thousands of citizens—some say as many as 50,000 in Baltimore City alone—are being removed from the voting lists" because the state law makes it the duty of election officials to cancel all registrations of persons who have failed to vote at least once in the last five years.

This does not apply to those in the armed forces, but affects many per-

U. S. and Britain Have Not Formed Block, Byrnes Says

Secretary of State Denies Statements Made by Molotov

By GRAHAM HOVEY

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes today denied that the United States and Britain have formed a bloc to intimidate Russia, as charged by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov.

Byrnes also insisted that Premier Stalin once agreed to support a treaty to keep Germany disarmed for twenty-five years. Molotov challenged yesterday a previous assertion that the Russian leader had indorsed such a proposal.

Byrnes emphasized a hope that the Big Four foreign ministers could iron out their many disagreements and complete peace treaty drafts for six former enemy countries when they meet again in Paris June 15.

He made his statements on Russia in an extraordinary news conference in reply to a host of questions concerning the lengthy blast Moltov delivered yesterday against the secretary and the United States.

To refresh his memory of events on which Molotov based his charges, Byrnes said he would read from the actual minutes of three international conferences: the Allied Council of Foreign Ministers in London last September; the Moscow Big Three meeting in December, and the Paris Conference of Foreign Ministers which ended with only slight success eleven days ago.

Byrnes did so directly for the next forty minutes after requesting reporters not to quote his remarks directly. Most of that period was devoted to a calm recital of events connected with the American plan for a twenty-five-year Big Four treaty to keep Germany disarmed.

Molotov yesterday said Byrnes

Republican Party Has Important Job, Reece Says

Describes Election as Fight between Communism and Republicanism

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 28 (AP)—B. Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, describing the forthcoming election as a "fight basically between Communism and Republicanism," declared tonight that the Republican party had the most important job that has confronted it since 1860.

"Republican candidates for the Senate and House this year will not be running against candidates of the Democratic party, but against political action committee candidates," the Tennessee congressman told a party attended by state Republican leaders and candidates in his first major speech since taking the Republican helm.

In 1860 the nation was threatened with dismemberment along sectional lines, Reece recalled, and "the Republican party rose to the occasion and preserved the union."

"Today we are threatened with an even more vicious form of dismemberment, one which disregards geographical areas and sets one segment of our population against the other."

This threat, he said, "has come into dangerous actuality because a group of alien-minded radicals has been successful in seizing control of the party which bears the label of Democrat."

Referring to the CIO-Political Action Committee, Reece said:

"Shall we, at the demand of this special privileged group of leaders, reduce members of Congress to a bunch of 'Charlie McCarthys?' or, to express it another way, shall we give up a people's government and establish a totalitarian government with Sidney Hillman as the dictator?"

The Republican party needs to win only twenty-six additional seats in the House and nine additional seats in the Senate to "insure the triumph of Republicanism," Reece concluded. "We are in sight of victory."

Death came to Glass in his apartment at the Mayflower hotel, ending a half century public career embracing service in Congress and as secretary of the treasury under Woodrow Wilson.

He was dean of the Senate in age although outranked in length of service by Senators Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee and Arthur Capper, of Kansas.

Krug and Lewis Believed In Substantial Accord On All Major Points

Secretary and Mine Leader Recess until This Morning after Conferring Fifty-two Minutes Last Night; Government Creates Emergency Stockpile of Coal by Freezing All Loaded Cars at Mines

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — Further negotiations between Secretary of the Interior Krug and John L. Lewis failed to produce a settlement of the soft coal strike tonight but progress was reported.

With the two reported in substantial agreement on all major points of new contract, they conferred for fifty-two minutes tonight and then recessed until tomorrow morning, the hour not fixed.

"It's the same old word—nothing to say," Lewis told reporters afterwards.

Asked whether the picture is "dark or bright," he replied that "the secretary will have to advise you on that."

Krug had told of progress as the session started, but had made it clear he did not expect any settlement tonight.

Progress also was reported to President Truman when Krug and Lewis conferred with him before their night meeting.

Freeze Loaded Cars

The government meanwhile created an emergency stockpile of coal by "freezing" all loaded cars at the idle mines.

The order is similar to the one issued March 28 just before the strike started and which provided a pool of approximately 1,650,000 tons for emergency use.

The Solid Fuel Administration, which issued the order, estimated that "a few thousand cars" of coal now are loaded at mines which are not producing. This coal now will be released only on SFA orders to public utilities, railroads, hospitals, food processing plants and other essential consumers.

Krug and Lewis spent thirty-four minutes with Mr. Truman. Afterwards Secretary Charles G. Ross announced that "progress was reported by both sides."

Asked whether Mr. Truman was pleased at the principals' report, Ross replied that "naturally the president is pleased at progress toward settlement of any industrial dispute."

Both Krug and Lewis declined to comment on the session with the president.

Lewis was asked by a reporter whether he expects "to be back here tomorrow."

"I have no expectations," he replied.

Krug said before entering the White House that an agreement had not been reached but an official previously had said that Krug and Lewis had reached accord on

14 Nazi Bigwigs Of Dachau Camp Die on Gallows

Trap Is Sprung for Men Who Murdered 300,000; 14 More Go Today

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

LANDSBERG, Germany, May 28. (AP)—Fourteen Nazis walked up thirteen steps today to pay quickly for the lingering deaths of over 300,000 men, women and children in the Dachau Concentration Camp.

Tomorrow another fourteen will follow their comrades to the twin gallows in the largest mass execution ever conducted by the United States Army.

The black gallows—made darker by the shadows cast into the prison courtyard by the cell block in which Adolf Hitler wrote Mein Kampf—ended by their sprung traps the lives of officials who killed thousands of innocent victims by cruel medical experiments, unleashed hungry dogs, sadistic tortures and malnutrition.

All twenty-eight accused were convicted last December by a military war crimes court.

Dr. Schilling Gets His

There was Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, seventy-four-year-old physician and a scientist world-renowned in the pre-Nazi days, who shuffled broken and trembling to the foot of the gallows. He gained composure as the hangman bound his feet.

Asked if he had a statement, Schilling tossed his spade-bearded chin in defiance and straightened his aged body.

"Nine," he said. "Schnell Bitte schnell." ("No! Hurry please, hurry.")

The trap door dropped seconds later.

Rochester Faces Citywide Shutdown

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—A general citywide shutdown neared tonight as an estimated 26,650 workers were idled by a mass picketing demonstration which union leaders predicted would be doubled tomorrow.

Bus and taxi services, the city's subway system, its two daily newspapers, men's clothing factories, theaters and various other industries were closed today by the demonstration.

The picketing was ordered after an announced settlement of a thirteen-day-old labor dispute between the city and the union. City Manager Louis B. Cartwright and the state federation of labor, in negotiations aided by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, had reached an agreement.

The city abolished 489 jobs May 15, after the union had attempted to organize. The jobs were recreated May 20, and city officials said about half of the public works employes returned. In the meantime, other city employes had left their jobs in a sympathy demonstration.

There seemed to be no prospect tonight of an early settlement of the controversy.

Petrillo Calls Strike at Chicago Radio Station

CHICAGO, May 28 (AP)—James C. Petrillo called a strike at a Chicago radio station today, and United States District Attorney J. Albert Woll immediately started an investigation to determine whether the Lea law had been violated.

The fiery president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians called three studio record librarians off the job at Radio Station WAAF, and told reporters he "expected prosecution" and was "ready to face the music."

Petrillo said he called the strike because the station had refused to employ three additional librarians.

The Lea bill, enacted last April and sometimes called the "anti-Petrillo" law, provides up to one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine for any union which compels or attempts to compel broadcasters to hire more employes than are needed "to perform actual service."

Petrillo said he and his union were "committed to the absolute policy of utilizing all energies and resources to resist this vicious (Lea) law, unless and until we are told by the Supreme Court of the United States that the bill of rights and the abolition of slavery do not apply to American musicians, and that I do not believe the United States supreme court will ever do."

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP) — The nation's major radio networks today had "no comment" when asked for their reaction to a strike ordered by James C. Petrillo at Radio station WAAF, Chicago.

The station has no network affiliation.

Petrillo, in calling his American Federation of Musicians (AFL) members off the job, said he was "expecting prosecution" under the Lea bill.

United States Extends Credit Of $1,370,000,000 to France

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—The United States extended a $1,370,000,000 credit to France tonight to help her begin a four-year reconstruction program.

Leon Blum, chief French negotiator, signed a comprehensive economic and financial agreement with Secretary of Treasury Fred Vinson and Secretary of State Byrnes. The ceremony at the State department climaxed eleven weeks of negotiations.

President Truman and President Felix Gouin, of France, announced conclusion of the financial conversation in a joint statement released simultaneously in Washington and Paris.

The American credit was divided in two portions:

1. A direct loan of $650,000,000 from the Export-Import Bank.

2. A line of credit totaling $720,000,000 which would permit the French to settle their lend-lease account and to purchase United States Army and Navy surplus now in France and in French overseas territories.

In addition, the United States promised to grant France "additional credit" with which she could purchase approximately 750,000 tons of American-owned merchant shipping.

The first warning that went out over the state police teletype was that the water was expected to rise to 12 or 13 feet in some sections of the town, but later state police said that the river was expected to rise that high above normal.

State Police Lieutenant Menash Katz in Baltimore said that the force had been informed by the Philadelphia Electric Company, which operates Conowingo dam, that the Susquehanna river would leave its banks shortly.

(In Philadelphia, officials of the Philadelphia Electric Company said the plant manager of the Conowingo Dam Hydro-Generating Plant did not expect the flow of water to reach more than eighty per cent of the crest of the 1936 flood. The company said that meant there would be some water in Port Deposit's streets but "nothing like 12 to 13 feet.")

Immediate preparations to close U. S. Route 222, and State Routes 269 and 276 in the area have been made.

The crest of the flood is due about midnight tomorrow, the state police said.

Indian Maid's Life Is at Stake In Seminoles "Green Corn Dance"

By ROGER GREENE

MIAMI Fla., May 28 (AP) — Deep in the wild sawgrass of the Everglades, tribal members of South Florida's Seminoles were holding their secret and mysterious "green corn dance" tonight — with life or death in the balance.

Where they are meeting is known only to the Indians.

Still technically at war with the United States, as they have been for the last century, the Seminoles conduct their eleven-day councils in seclusion from the white man.

Their laws are their own, and their justice is meted out by tribal standards.

Annually in the "small moon," when the bright scimitar of the new moon first cuts across the skies, the Seminoles gather for the half-joyous, half-solemn powwow—to fest, to dance, to pray for fertility of the soil, and pass judgment on the evil.

Girl's Life at Stake

At stake tonight was the life of a 17-year-old Indian maiden whose grave offense, as viewed by the elders, was to fall in love with a white youth and have a child by him.

"The boy worked in the 'glades near the Seminoles and fell desperately in love with the Indian girl," said O. B. White, Miami attorney for the tribe and honorary chieftain.

"When the child came, there was

Lane Requests Governor To Call Special Session of Legislature

Declares End of Hostilities Makes Early Primary Unnecessary

BALTIMORE, May 28 (AP)—William Preston Lane, Jr., candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, urged Governor O'Conor today to consider calling a special session of the legislature to provide for additional registration of voters before the primary election June 24.

Lane said that his state ticket, James J. Lacy for comptroller and Hall Hammond, candidate for attorney general, joined in the suggestion.

Many thousands of citizens, including war veterans, "are being deprived of an opportunity to participate in the Democratic and Republican primary elections" Lane said.

"The change in the accustomed date for state primaries from September to the preceding June was enacted for the benefit of those absent with the armed forces," Lane said in a letter to O'Conor.

"Since the law was passed, hostilities have ended, and many of those who were abroad have returned, so that the early primary is in fact unnecessary. However, many of those who have returned or are now returning have had no real opportunity too affiliate with a political party or change their affiliation, as they may desire.

"It has been pointed out that many of those who cast absentee ballots in the election of 1944 became automatically registered, but did not then state a party preference because they were voting in a general election. Unless these veterans have since affiliated with a political party, or are given a fair opportunity to affiliate, they are barred from participating in the primary elections."

Lane also declared "that thousands of citizens—some say as many as 50,000 in Baltimore City alone—are being removed from the voting lists" because the state law makes it the duty of election officials to cancel all registrations of persons who have failed to vote at least once in the last five years.

This does not apply to those in the armed forces, but affects many per-

U. S. and Britain Have Not Formed Block, Byrnes Says

Secretary of State Denies Statements Made by Molotov

By GRAHAM HOVEY

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes today denied that the United States and Britain have formed a bloc to intimidate Russia, as charged by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov.

Byrnes also insisted that Premier Stalin once agreed to support a treaty to keep Germany disarmed for twenty-five years. Molotov challenged yesterday a previous assertion that the Russian leader had indorsed such a proposal.

Byrnes emphasized a hope that the Big Four foreign ministers could iron out their many disagreements and complete peace treaty drafts for six former enemy countries when they meet again in Paris June 15.

He made his statements on Russia in an extraordinary news conference in reply to a host of questions concerning the lengthy blast Moltov delivered yesterday against the secretary and the United States.

To refresh his memory of events on which Molotov based his charges, Byrnes said he would read from the actual minutes of three international conferences: the Allied Council of Foreign Ministers in London last September; the Moscow Big Three meeting in December, and the Paris Conference of Foreign Ministers which ended with only slight success eleven days ago.

Byrnes did so directly for the next forty minutes after requesting reporters not to quote his remarks directly. Most of that period was devoted to a calm recital of events connected with the American plan for a twenty-five-year Big Four treaty to keep Germany disarmed.

Molotov yesterday said Byrnes

Began Study of National Fiscal Problems as a Country Editor

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON, May 28—(AP)—The nation's capital put its pressing problems aside today to do homage to an elder statesman, Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, who died in his sleep shortly before 3 a. m. at the age of 88.

Death came to Glass in his apartment at the Mayflower hotel, ending a half century public career embracing service in Congress and as secretary of the treasury under Woodrow Wilson.

He was dean of the Senate in age although outranked in length of service by Senators Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee and Arthur Capper, of Kansas.

The funeral service will be held at

Republican Party Has Important Job, Reece Says

Describes Election as Fight between Communism and Republicanism

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 28 (AP)—B. Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, describing the forthcoming election as a "fight basically between Communism and Republicanism," declared tonight that the Republican party had the most important job that has confronted it since 1860.

"Republican candidates for the Senate and House this year will not be running against candidates of the Democratic party, but against political action committee candidates," the Tennessee congressman told a party attended by state Republican leaders and candidates in his first major speech since taking the Republican helm.

In 1860 the nation was threatened with dismemberment along sectional lines, Reece recalled, and "the Republican party rose to the occasion and preserved the union."

"Today we are threatened with an even more vicious form of dismemberment, one which disregards geographical areas and sets one segment of our population against the other."

This threat, he said, "has come into dangerous actuality because a group of alien-minded radicals has been successful in seizing control of the party which bears the label of Democrat."

Referring to the CIO-Political Action Committee, Reece said:

"Shall we, at the demand of this special privileged group of leaders, reduce members of Congress to a bunch of 'Charlie McCarthys?' or, to express it another way, shall we give up a people's government and establish a totalitarian government with Sidney Hillman as the dictator?"

The Republican party needs to win only twenty-six additional seats in the House and nine additional seats in the Senate to "insure the triumph of Republicanism," Reece concluded. "We are in sight of victory."

United States Extends Credit Of $1,370,000,000 to France

WASHINGTON, May 28. (AP)—The United States extended a $1,370,000,000 credit to France tonight to help her begin a four-year reconstruction program.

Leon Blum, chief French negotiator, signed a comprehensive economic and financial agreement with Secretary of Treasury Fred Vinson and Secretary of State Byrnes. The ceremony at the State department climaxed eleven weeks of negotiations.

President Truman and President Felix Gouin, of France, announced conclusion of the financial conversation in a joint statement released simultaneously in Washington and Paris.

The American credit was divided in two portions:

1. A direct loan of $650,000,000 from the Export-Import Bank.

2. A line of credit totaling $720,000,000 which would permit the French to settle their lend-lease account and to purchase United States Army and Navy surplus now in France and in French overseas territories.

In addition, the United States promised to grant France "additional credit" with which she could purchase approximately 750,000 tons of American-owned merchant shipping.

Krug and Lewis Believed In Substantial Accord On All Major Points

Secretary and Mine Leader Recess until This Morning after Conferring Fifty-two Minutes Last Night; Government Creates Emergency Stockpile of Coal by Freezing All Loaded Cars at Mines

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — Further negotiations between Secretary of the Interior Krug and John L. Lewis failed to produce a settlement of the soft coal strike tonight but progress was reported.

With the two reported in substantial agreement on all major points of new contract, they conferred for fifty-two minutes tonight and then recessed until tomorrow morning, the hour not fixed.

"It's the same old word—nothing to say," Lewis told reporters afterwards.

Asked whether the picture is "dark or bright," he replied that "the secretary will have to advise you on that."

Krug had told of progress as the session started, but had made it clear he did not expect any settlement tonight.

Progress also was reported to President Truman when Krug and Lewis conferred with him before their night meeting.

Freeze Loaded Cars

The order is similar to the one issued March 28 just before the strike started and which provided a pool of approximately 1,650,000 tons for emergency use.

The Solid Fuel Administration, which issued the order, estimated that "a few thousand cars" of coal now are loaded at mines which are not producing. This coal now will be released only on SFA orders to public utilities, railroads, hospitals, food processing plants and other essential consumers.

Krug and Lewis spent thirty-four minutes with Mr. Truman. Afterwards Secretary Charles G. Ross announced that "progress was reported by both sides."

Asked whether Mr. Truman was pleased at the principals' report, Ross replied that "naturally the president is pleased at progress toward settlement of any industrial dispute."

Both Krug and Lewis declined to comment on the session with the president.

Lewis was asked by a reporter whether he expects "to be back here tomorrow."

"I have no expectations," he replied.

Krug said before entering the White House that an agreement had not been reached but an official previously had said that Krug and Lewis had reached accord on

14 Nazi Bigwigs Of Dachau Camp Die on Gallows

Trap Is Sprung for Men Who Murdered 300,000; 14 More Go Today

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

LANDSBERG, Germany, May 28 (AP)—Fourteen Nazis walked up thirteen steps today to pay quickly for the lingering deaths of over 300,000 men, women and children in the Dachau Concentration Camp.

Tomorrow another fourteen will follow their comrades to the twin gallows in the largest mass execution ever conducted by the United States Army.

The black gallows—made darker by the shadows cast into the prison courtyard by the cell block in which Adolf Hitler wrote Mein Kampf—ended by their sprung traps the lives of officials who killed thousands of innocent victims by cruel medical experiments, unleashed hungry dogs, sadistic tortures and malnutrition.

All twenty-eight accused were convicted last December by a military war crimes court.

Dr. Schilling Gets His

There was Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, seventy-four-year-old physician and a scientist world-renowned in the pre-Nazi days, who shuffled broken and trembling to the foot of the gallows. He gained composure as the hangman bound his feet.

Asked if he had a statement, Schilling tossed his spade-bearded chin in defiance and straightened his aged body.

"Nine," he said. "Schnell Bitte schnell." ("No! Hurry please, hurry.")

The trap door dropped seconds later.

Rochester Faces Citywide Shutdown

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—A general citywide shutdown neared tonight as an estimated 26,650 workers were idled by a mass picketing demonstration which union leaders predicted would be doubled tomorrow.

Bus and taxi services, the city's subway system, its two daily newspapers, men's clothing factories, theaters and various other industries were closed today by the demonstration.

The picketing was ordered after an announced settlement of a thirteen-day-old labor dispute between the city and the union. City Manager Louis B. Cartwright and the state federation of labor, in negotiations aided by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, had reached an agreement.

The city abolished 489 jobs May 15, after the union had attempted to organize. The jobs were recreated May 20, and city officials said about half of the public works employes returned. In the meantime, other city employes had left their jobs in a sympathy demonstration.

There seemed to be no prospect tonight of an early settlement of the controversy.

Petrillo Calls Strike at Chicago Radio Station

CHICAGO, May 28 (AP)—James C. Petrillo called a strike at a Chicago radio station today, and United States District Attorney J. Albert Woll immediately started an investigation to determine whether the Lea law had been violated.

The fiery president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians called three studio record librarians off the job at Radio Station WAAF, and told reporters he "expected prosecution" and was "ready to face the music."

Petrillo said he called the strike because the station had refused to employ three additional librarians.

The Lea bill, enacted last April and sometimes called the "anti-Petrillo" law, provides up to one year imprisonment and $1,000 fine for any union which compels or attempts to compel broadcasters to hire more employes than are needed "to perform actual service."

Petrillo said he and his union were "committed to the absolute policy of utilizing all energies and resources to resist this vicious (Lea) law, unless and until we are told by the Supreme Court of the United States that the bill of rights and the abolition of slavery do not apply to American musicians, and that I do not believe the United States supreme court will ever do."

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP) — The nation's major radio networks today had "no comment" when asked for their reaction to a strike ordered by James C. Petrillo at Radio station WAAF, Chicago.

The station has no network affiliation.

Committee Gives Approval to Flood Control Project

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — Completion of local flood-protection work at Ridgeley, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md., won congressional committee approval today.

The House flood control committee reported a bill to authorize the work at an estimated cost of $7,420,000.

Also approved was completion of the Savage river dam on Savage river, Maryland, at an estimated cost of $1,900,000.

Funds are not included in the bill, which merely approves the projects.

The bill providing for the authorization was introduced in the House shortly after noon yesterday.

After action by the House, the bill will go to the Senate and then, if approved, to President Truman. The next step will be the providing of the actual funds for the project, which will be done by the House appropriations committee.

In addition to providing other benefits, the Savage river dam project has been designed so as to give flood protection to Westernport and Luke in Maryland, and to Keyser and Piedmont in West Virginia.

Krug and Lewis

the major provisions of a new contract.

Agreement Believed Reached

An official who may not be named had reported earlier that agreement was reached at that stage on a new wage scale which would follow the pattern of an 18½ cent increase in basic hourly pay and which, with overtime provisions, would net the miners $59.25 for a 45-hour week compared with their present $63.50 for a 54-hour week. The pact still, however, was subject to change.

Krug and Lewis had started conferences today at 2:15 p. m., with one minor detail reported to be holding up the settlement.

Before they met for what seemed the final stage of negotiations, Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, said he had talked with parties on both sides and understood they "are in agreement on principles for settlement."

"I feel confident that unless something very unforseen occurs," he told a reporter shortly before noon, "the coal strike will be settled and announcement of the settlement made within the next forty-eight hours."

Krug, as federal administrator, was empowered by President Truman to work out a new contract with Lewis, but it would have to be approved by the operators before the government could relinquish control. The producers' negotiating committee and other operators are standing by here.

Regardless of their attitude toward the prospective settlement, however, its acceptance by the union apparently would send the miners back to work as long as the government maintained the contract in effect. The mines have been idle since the strike "truce" expired Saturday despite the government's operation. The miners traditionally decline to work without a contract.

Other Provision Reported

Hill did not disclose details of the "agreement on principles" he reported. Unofficial reports of the prospective wage increase ranged from 14½ cents an hour up to 18½ cents. The latter figure is the basis on which the railroad strike and numerous other industrial disputes have been settled.

Other contract provisions reported under consideration — although they might not necessarily be embodied in the government's agreement with the union — included:

A health and welfare fund of $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 annually to be financed by a five-cent payment by the operators on each ton of coal and to be administered jointly by the union and the industry.

Exclusive union administration of funds now paid by miners through four to five per cent payroll deductions for medical and related expenses.

Changes in the basis for calculating overtime and other extra pay.

Adoption of safety and sanitation standards.

An increase of the $75 yearly vacation allowance to $100.

Solution of the dispute over unionization of foremen by following the decision of the National Labor Relations Board on the type of supervisory employes eligible for union membership.

Baltimore Hit By Hard Rains And Wind Storms

(By The Associated Press)

Heavy rains throughout Maryland, although failing to reach flood proportions, promised to make this month the third wettest May on record in the state and accompanying lightning and high winds in some sections caused considerable damage both Monday night and yesterday (Tuesday).

The weather bureau in Baltimore said that the rains were welcomed by farmers after a four-month dry period this year, and the bureau reported that the rains themselves had done little or no damage.

However, a series of brief but intensive storms in Baltimore Monday night caused what was described as the worst damage in several years in northern sections. Trees were felled, lawns damaged, cellars flooded and some streets made virtually impassable.

The rains continued yesterday and a Baltimore school was struck by lightning shortly before noon. The bolt damaged a flag pole standard and scorched the walls in the building, but did not harm any of the 1,200 pupils and teachers.

In Frederick county, a barn on the farm of Paul Beall in the Mt. Airy-Damascus section was ruined Monday night by fire caused by lightning, and several calves, machinery, hay and straw also were destroyed. Heavy rains hit other sections of the county and farms and dirt roads at Unionville were badly washed.

The Potomac river reached a peak of 6.3 feet above normal at Williamsport at 7 a. m. yesterday, but was expected to recede by evening. The rise was attributed to heavy rains in the mountains in the Hancock area west of Williamsport.

Prospects were good for Decoration day in the state, with the weather bureau predicting sunny and mild weather. The bureau also help hopes for a clear day tomorrow as well as on Memorial day.

The weatherman reported that precipitation had reached 5.28 inches by midnight Monday, and said that with yesterday's downpour the total probably would rise to 6.25 inches. The record rainfall for May in the state was 7.25 in May, 1894, and the second highest was 6.31 for May, 1873.

Normal May rainfall in Maryland is 3.54, the bureau said.

nothing that could be done. The die was cast. The Seminoles would never accept a white man into the tribe. And the girl had committed the unpardonable crime of having emotion for a white man.

"What will happen to her will never be known."

White, one of the very few white men ever permitted to attend a "green corn dance" and recognized as a leading authority on the Seminoles, said he doubted that the girl would be cast out from the tribe for her sin.

"To be out cast is worse than to be sentenced to death," he said.

Decisions Are Final

In all probability, he said, the girl would "disappear" in the vast cypress swamps, and no one except the secret council would ever know the end of the story.

"But the Seminoles won't hurt the child," he said. "They will take it and raise it with the tribe."

White said law-breakers made no attempt to flee the council's decisions. Stoically, they accept the elder's verdict. There is no appeal to a higher court, because the council is the highest court.

"I remember old Charlie Tiger, a Seminols, was condemned to death by the council in 1926," White said.

"Friends in Miami whisked him away to Tampa and bought him a railroad ticket to Oklahoma. Charlie Tiger thanked them. When they had gone, he sold the ticket to Oklahoma, bought presents for all his Seminole friends and then returned to the 'glades to await execution of the death sentence."

Dean of Senate

3 p. m. on Thursday at Lynchburg, Va., where Glass, as a country editor, began a study of national fiscal problems which became his particular specialty in Congress.

Through application to this field, he probably had as much influence on banking and monetary legislation as any man of his time. He sponsored the federal reserve act of 1913 and was known as the "father of the federal reserve system."

Differed with Roosevelt

To the public at large, however, Glass was probably better known for pungent speeches in political battles and in congressional debate.

He differed strongly with the late President Roosevelt over the New Deal's fiscal policies and said so vigorously. He also opposed a third term for Mr. Roosevelt.

But, despite their differences, Mr. Roosevelt maintained a warm affection for the man he once termed the "unreconstructed rebel."

Glass's sincerity in espousing his views was one thing no one ever questioned.

It was a point repeated over and over by Republicans and Democrats alike as senators, in a twenty-one-minute session, spoke in sorrow of their colleague's death.

Senator Byrd (D-Va), announcing Glass's death, said "his character, carved out of unblemished granite, was composed of truth and loyalty and sincerity that hates deceit and detests a lie."

Senator George (D-Ga) said of his long-time friend: "He instinctively turned away from all false pretense and fraud. There was no sham in his soul."

In the House, the death was announced by a Senate secretary and by Rep. Bland (D-Va). A volume of tributes came from members of both houses. Secretary of the Treasury Vinson spoke of Glass's "great contributions to the basic strength of our social and economic system."

Inactive for Four Years

For almost four years, Glass was kept inactive by the chains of illness. George, who was a next door neighbor in their hotel, told the Senate that the Virginian bore that illness "uncomplainingly."

It is known, however, that he fretted during the war over his inability to take an active part in prosecuting it to victory. He was one of those called "interventionist" in the days when this country was split over the issue of whether aid should be given Britain.

There were no doubts in Glass's mind. He said in 1941 that he would like to "shoot hell" out of the Nazis.

Glass's last years of illness led to a sharp political controversy in Virginia. His inability to go to the Senate floor resulted in demands from several newspapers that he resign. In July, 1945, John Locke Green, a Republican and treasurer of Arlington county, sought unsuccessfully through court action to have the seat declared vacant.

Under the Virginia laws, Gov. William M. Tuck can appoint a successor to serve until next fall's election. In Oklahoma for a conference of governors, Tuck said he probably would delay the appointment until his return to Richmond on Monday.

Whatever the division within Virginia, there seemed scant doubt that Glass's old colleagues in the Senate wanted him to retain office.

When the Seventy-eighth Congress convened in January, 1943, Glass was unable to attend. The Senate sent its secretary, the late Col. Edwin A. Halsey, to administer the oath at Glass's estate near Lynchburg.

Wrapped up in controversy over labor legislation and under pressure to work long hours, the Senate had called its session for 11 a. m. today. It was the plan of Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) to keep it in session into the night.

But on news of Glass's death there was an immediate decision to recess in respect to this memory. The Banking committee, battling over OPA legislation, called off its meeting.

Glass was married twice. His first wift died in 1937. In 1940, at the age of 82, he married Mrs. Mary Scott Meads, of Amherst, Va., who survives.

Wheeler and O'Mahoney, both candidates for re-election this year, have voiced open opposition to a provision of the bill which would permit the president to induct persons who declined to stay on the job or return to work after the government had taken over industries.

There was no immediate reaction to their reported request. But senators familiar with the situation pointed out that it might be difficult for Mr. Truman to scuttle, even after the coal dispute were settled, a bill passed so overwhelmingly by the House.

Although some felt this would leave House members who voted for it out on a limb, others said that a statement by Mr. Truman that the legislation is not needed any more would help to take them off the limb.

Harold L. Ickes, former secretary of interior, called President Truman's legislative request "the heaviest blow ever struck in America against fundamental rights of labor and the Democratic traditions of our country."

In a statement issued as executive chairman of the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, Ickes described the measure passed by the House and now before the Senate as the "Truman Anti-Labor bill," and said:

"President Truman, in peacetime, in anger and in inconsiderate haste, has struck out savagely at labor, without even mild castigation of the arrogance of some powerful employers or the ineffectiveness and inexcusable slothfulness of his own government in dealing with post-war economic problems.

"The president has opened the door for the striking down of much social legislation enacted under President Roosevelt.

Committee Gives Approval to Flood Control Project

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) — Completion of local flood-protection work at Ridgeley, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md., won congressional committee approval today.

The House flood control committee reported a bill to authorize the work at an estimated cost of $7,420,000.

Also approved was completion of the Savage river dam on Savage river, Maryland, at an estimated cost of $1,900,000.

Funds are not included in the bill, which merely approves the projects.

The bill providing for the authorization was introduced in the House shortly after noon yesterday.

After action by the House, the bill will go to the Senate and then, if approved, to President Truman. The next step will be the providing of the actual funds for the project, which will be done by the House appropriations committee.

In addition to providing other benefits, the Savage river dam project has been designed so as to give flood protection to Westernport and Luke in Maryland, and to Keyser and Piedmont in West Virginia.

Krug and Lewis

Agreement Believed Reached

An official who may not be named had reported earlier that agreement was reached at that stage on a new wage scale which would follow the pattern of an 18½ cent increase in basic hourly pay and which, with overtime provisions, would net the miners $59.25 for a 45-hour week compared with their present $63.50 for a 54-hour week. The pact still, however, was subject to change.

Krug and Lewis had started conferences today at 2:15 p. m., with one minor detail reported to be holding up the settlement.

Before they met for what seemed the final stage of negotiations, Senator Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, said he had talked with parties on both sides and understood they "are in agreement on principles for settlement."

"I feel confident that unless something very unforseen occurs," he told a reporter shortly before noon, "the coal strike will be settled and announcement of the settlement made within the next forty-eight hours."

Krug, as federal administrator, was empowered by President Truman to work out a new contract with Lewis, but it would have to be approved by the operators before the government could relinquish control. The producers' negotiating committee and other operators are standing by here.

Regardless of their attitude toward the prospective settlement, however, its acceptance by the union apparently would send the miners back to work as long as the government maintained the contract in effect. The mines have been idle since the strike "truce" expired Saturday despite the government's operation. The miners traditionally decline to work without a contract.

Other Provision Reported

Hill did not disclose details of the "agreement on principles" he reported. Unofficial reports of the prospective wage increase ranged from 14½ cents an hour up to 18½ cents. The latter figure is the basis on which the railroad strike and numerous other industrial disputes have been settled.

Other contract provisions reported under consideration — although they might not necessarily be embodied in the government's agreement with the union — included:

A health and welfare fund of $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 annually to be financed by a five-cent payment by the operators on each ton of coal and to be administered jointly by the union and the industry.

Exclusive union administration of funds now paid by miners through four to five per cent payroll deductions for medical and related expenses.

Changes in the basis for calculating overtime and other extra pay.

Adoption of safety and sanitation standards.

An increase of the $75 yearly vacation allowance to $100.

Solution of the dispute over unionization of foremen by following the decision of the National Labor Relations Board on the type of supervisory employes eligible for union membership.

Baltimore Hit By Hard Rains And Wind Storms

[By The Associated Press]

Heavy rains throughout Maryland, although failing to reach flood proportions, promised to make this month the third wettest May on record in the state and accompanying lightning and high winds in some sections caused considerable damage both Monday night and yesterday (Tuesday).

The weather bureau in Baltimore said that the rains were welcomed by farmers after a four-month dry period this year, and the bureau reported that the rains themselves had done little or no damage.

However, a series of brief but intensive storms in Baltimore Monday night caused what was described as the worst damage in several years in northern sections. Trees were felled, lawns damaged, cellars flooded and some streets made virtually impassable.

The rains continued yesterday and a Baltimore school was struck by lightning shortly before noon. The bolt damaged a flag pole standard and scorched the walls in the building, but did not harm any of the 1,200 pupils and teachers.

In Frederick county, a barn on the farm of Paul Beall in the Mt. Airy-Damascus section was ruined Monday night by fire caused by lightning, and several calves, machinery, hay and straw also were destroyed. Heavy rains hit other sections of the county and farms and dirt roads at Unionville were badly washed.

The Potomac river reached a peak of 6.3 feet above normal at Williamsport at 7 a. m. yesterday, but was expected to recede by evening. The rise was attributed to heavy rains in the mountains in the Hancock area west of Williamsport.

Prospects were good for Decoration day in the state, with the weather bureau predicting sunny and mild weather. The bureau also help hopes for a clear day tomorrow as well as on Memorial day.

The weatherman reported that precipitation had reached 5.28 inches by midnight Monday, and said that with yesterday's downpour the total probably would rise to 6.25 inches. The record rainfall for May in the state was 7.25 in May, 1894, and the second highest was 6.31 for May, 1873.

Normal May rainfall in Maryland is 3.54, the bureau said.

nothing that could be done. The die was cast. The Seminoles would never accept a white man into the tribe. And the girl had committed the unpardonable crime of having emotion for a white man.

"What will happen to her will never be known."

White, one of the very few white men ever permitted to attend a "green corn dance" and recognized as a leading authority on the Seminoles, said he doubted that the girl would be cast out from the tribe for her sin.

"To be out cast is worse than to be sentenced to death," he said.

Decisions Are Final

In all probability, he said, the girl would "disappear" in the vast cypress swamps, and no one except the secret council would ever know the end of the story.

"But the Seminoles won't hurt the child," he said. "They will take it and raise it with the tribe."

White said law-breakers made no attempt to flee the council's decisions. Stoically, they accept the elder's verdict. There is no appeal to a higher court, because the council is the highest court.

"I remember old Charlie Tiger, a Seminols, was condemned to death by the council in 1926," White said.

"Friends in Miami whisked him away to Tampa and bought him a railroad ticket to Oklahoma. Charlie Tiger thanked them. When they had gone, he sold the ticket to Oklahoma, bought presents for all his Seminole friends and then returned to the 'glades to await execution of the death sentence."

3 p. m. on Thursday at Lynchburg, Va., where Glass, as a country editor, began a study of national fiscal problems which became his particular specialty in Congress.

Through application to this field, he probably had as much influence on banking and monetary legislation as any man of his time. He sponsored the federal reserve act of 1913 and was known as the "father of the federal reserve system."

Differed with Roosevelt

To the public at large, however, Glass was probably better known for pungent speeches in political battles and in congressional debate.

He differed strongly with the late President Roosevelt over the New Deal's fiscal policies and said so vigorously. He also opposed a third term for Mr. Roosevelt.

But, despite their differences, Mr. Roosevelt maintained a warm affection for the man he once termed the "unreconstructed rebel."

Glass's sincerity in espousing his views was one thing no one ever questioned.

It was a point repeated over and over by Republicans and Democrats alike as senators, in a twenty-one-minute session, spoke in sorrow of their colleague's death.

Senator Byrd (D-Va), announcing Glass's death, said "his character, carved out of unblemished granite, was composed of truth and loyalty and sincerity that hates deceit and detests a lie."

Senator George (D-Ga) said of his long-time friend: "He instinctively turned away from all false pretense and fraud. There was no sham in his soul."

In the House, the death was announced by a Senate secretary and by Rep. Bland (D-Va). A volume of tributes came from members of both houses. Secretary of the Treasury Vinson spoke of Glass's "great contributions to the basic strength of our social and economic system."

Inactive for Four Years

For almost four years, Glass was kept inactive by the chains of illness. George, who was a next door neighbor in their hotel, told the Senate that the Virginian bore that illness "uncomplainingly."

It is known, however, that he fretted during the war over his inability to take an active part in prosecuting it to victory. He was one of those called "interventionist" in the days when this country was split over the issue of whether aid should be given Britain.

There were no doubts in Glass's mind. He said in 1941 that he would like to "shoot hell" out of the Nazis.

Glass's last years of illness led to a sharp political controversy in Virginia. His inability to go to the Senate floor resulted in demands from several newspapers that he resign. In July, 1945, John Locke Green, a Republican and treasurer of Arlington county, sought unsuccessfully through court action to have the seat declared vacant.

Under the Virginia laws, Gov. William M. Tuck can appoint a successor to serve until next fall's election. In Oklahoma for a conference of governors, Tuck said he probably would delay the appointment until his return to Richmond on Monday.

Whatever the division within Virginia, there seemed scant doubt that Glass's old colleagues in the Senate wanted him to retain office.

When the Seventy-eighth Congress convened in January, 1943, Glass was unable to attend. The Senate sent its secretary, the late Col. Edwin A. Halsey, to administer the oath at Glass's estate near Lynchburg.

Wrapped up in controversy over labor legislation and under pressure to work long hours, the Senate had called its session for 11 a. m. today. It was the plan of Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) to keep it in session into the night.

But on news of Glass's death there was an immediate decision to recess in respect to this memory. The Banking committee, battling over OPA legislation, called off its meeting.

Glass was married twice. His first wift died in 1937. In 1940, at the age of 82, he married Mrs. Mary Scott Meads, of Amherst, Va., who survives.

Husband Turned Over a New Leaf After Separation

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Practically every wife with a misbehaving husband asks herself the same question sooner or later: Shall I leave him?

There are many different answers that might be made to that question, depending both on circumstances and on the type of man the husband is.

But here is a wife who evidently believes the answer should always be "Yes." She writes:

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I have been reading your column for a number of years and always noticed that you usually advise married women against breaking up their homes and leaving their children. Now I would like you to hear about my case.

"I have been married fifteen years and can't say any of them have been happy, except for the times that God sent my babies. My husband has always been a good provider for his family, but that doesn't mean everything. At times, he was very mean, even going so far as to strike me, and he would go out whenever he pleased.

"Now I am not the sort to believe a wife should put a ball and chain on her husband, but I don't approve of a married man going out without his wife, as I think most wives like good times also. Well, all this went on for a number of years, and things got worse as time went on. We separated several times, with him always leaving the home.

"Well, the last time things came to an end, I decided to make a change and left him with the children. When this happened he was frantic, never having dreamed that I would ever leave the children because he knows how much I love them.

"So that's all, except that after a month of our separation I was back home, by his request, and now my husband is more devoted to me than in the days of our honeymoon. I hope this will help some poor neglected wife with a difficult husband.

"A BRIDE AGAIN."

It is fine that your particular problem worked out so well, but I honestly think you were just lucky that it did. What would you have done if your husband hadn't asked you to come home? Would you have just left the children there with him and stayed away for good? I don't believe you would. I think you would have had to go back anyhow, and you wouldn't have accomplished a thing by going away. In fact, you'd have definitely weakened your position and your chances of doing anything with your husband. Also, if he had wanted to make trouble for you, he could have brought you into court on charges of abandonment. Did that ever occur to you?

I think the only basis on which it is ever wise, or even safe, for a woman to try the experiment of leaving her husband is if she has definitely decided to make it stick if he doesn't come after her. If she goes away only with the idea of trying to scare him, feeling quite sure he'll beg her to come home and fully intending to return as soon as he does, she may be surprised and disconcerted to find that her husband makes no move toward her. Then she's in the embbarrassing predicament of having to choose between crawling home uninvited, or sticking it out when she doesn't want to.

No, leaving husband and home is serious and dangerous business, not just a plaything in the matrimonial bag of tricks. And to any wife who's considering it, I'd say: Be sure what you're about before trying it.

Husband Turned Over a New Leaf After Separation

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Practically every wife with a misbehaving husband asks herself the same question sooner or later: Shall I leave him?

There are many different answers that might be made to that question, depending both on circumstances and on the type of man the husband is.

But here is a wife who evidently believes the answer should always be "Yes." She writes:

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I have been reading your column for a number of years and always noticed that you usually advise married women against breaking up their homes and leaving their children. Now I would like you to hear about my case.

"I have been married fifteen years and can't say any of them have been happy, except for the times that God sent my babies. My husband has always been a good provider for his family, but that doesn't mean everything. At times, he was very mean, even going so far as to strike me, and he would go out whenever he pleased.

"Now I am not the sort to believe a wife should put a ball and chain on her husband, but I don't approve of a married man going out without his wife, as I think most wives like good times also. Well, all this went on for a number of years, and things got worse as time went on. We separated several times, with him always leaving the home.

"Well, the last time things came to an end, I decided to make a change and left him with the children. When this happened he was frantic, never having dreamed that I would ever leave the children because he knows how much I love them.

Important Points That Should Not Be Dodged

WHETHER President Truman was "ham acting" as charged by Senator Morse (R-Ore) when he delivered his recommendations to the joint session of both houses of Congress on the railroad strike disaster is somewhat beside the point. The meat of the matter is that the president was acting, whether "ham" or otherwise, and in an emergency that called for drastic action to avert continuation of a calamity which was extant and real, however caused by avoidable blunders and mistaken policy. It was an emergency that put him on the spot to exercise the bounden duties of his office.

Also, the abrogation of the rail strike was not due to the action of the president alone but to the palpable sharp registration of a nation-wide clamor by the people that something be done, which forced him to move. There is little question that the cessation of the strike was influenced by that important factor.

Another item in the news that demonstrated the avoidance of an important point was the declaration by President A. F. Whitney, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in excoriating President Truman for proposing emergency strike legislation to Congress "merely because they [the trainmen] were asking for increased wages and working rules that were long overdue."

The proposal was made not merely for that, which is something that could have been determined and should have been determined through collective bargaining without resort to the strike weapon. It was made primarily because the strike was not against the railroads but against the government of the United States, which had seized them for the necessary purpose of continuing their operation and preventing hardships and suffering among the people through disruption of the national economy. Therein the striking unions blundered.

It is important that the real points of the strike situation as here noted be kept in mind.

The Fundamentals Must Be Reformed

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, notes the "Pittsburgh Press," can seize the coal mines and the railroads, but he cannot be sure that the miners and the railway men will work for the government. "He can beg Messrs. Whitney, Lewis and Johnston to tell the men to work, but they are free to ignore such a request. And the power of the union leaders differs only in degree, not in kind, from that of Lewis, Whitney and Johnston."

That is the crux of the problem and the reason for the extraordinary call for emergency legislation to remedy it. Workers cannot be sent back to work against their will. The thing to do is not to resort to coercion and punishment, but to bring about such a situation as will make the workers willing to remain at work or to return to work through the free operation of the system of collective bargaining.

Although purposing to "diminish the causes of labor disputes," Congress, supreme court decisions and administration policy have pursued an exactly opposite course. These have tied the hands of management and permitted unions to grow into monopolies and to exercise privileges prohibited not only to management but to the rest of the community. The results have climaxed into two great national disasters.

Obviously the thing to do is to correct and reform the fundamental causes by revising labor relations laws and regulations to the level of equality for all. And that can and must be done without impairing the inherent rights of the workingmen. There is a clear road to industrial peace, which all desire, and it should be followed.

Wise Recommendations By Governor Martin

GOVERNOR EDWARD MARTIN, of Pennsylvania, has done the sensible and—timely thing in calling upon executives of the nation's states, at the annual governors' conference at Oaklahoma City, to aid in decentralization of government by "taking care of their own financial burdens."

Not only would such action serve to curb the encroachment of federal authority over the states, which has grown enormously, but, as Governor Martin asserted, it would go a long way in bettering the financial condition of the federal government, and that, of course, would benefit the citizenry through lessened federal tax requirements.

Governor Martin, chairman of the conference, outlined a four-point program to be considered by the conference. The first called for balanced budgets and less expenditures for each level of government. The second recommended a tax plan where each level of government may have certain taxes earmarked for its own use and have certain functions to perform.

Here is involved the important question of duplicated and overlapping taxation, which has long called for correction. There should be separate and distinct fields of state and federal taxation.

The third point of the suggested program called for just that not only in matters of taxation but otherwise, it being that there should be elimination of duplication and overlapping in government all around.

The fourth point was that "every level of government, our school system, our labor, agricultural and business organizations, and our churches should assume certain responsibilities. They should all teach willing obedience of the laws and the decrees of our courts; urge all to take a greater interest in government; uphold the greatness and glory of America and insist that respect for the rights of others is a duty imposed upon us as good citizens."

All of that is important. Much of the deplorable condition into which the nation has been allowed to lapse, at a time when there should be teamwork and co-operation toward productive endeavor to make good the great postwar opportunity facing the country, has been due to the unfortunate propensity of the people to avoid and escape responsibilities.

With regard to the assumption or rather the reassumption, of financial burdens by the states, which is sound and necessary, it is essential that the relinquishment of federal pouring of moneys into the states be done with due regard to obligations already entered upon. Worthy projects already undertaken by the federal government and partly completed—as, for example, the Savage river dam project for this region, the Cumberland flood control project and the Cumberland airport—upon which large sums have already been contributed by the federal government, should be carried out to completion. These are committments which cannot in reason be escaped.

But aside from such projects and those expenditures which are distinctly of a federal nature, the decentralization program advocated should proceed apace. The governors of the state would do well to take emphatic action thereupon.

Misgivings over Jury Ruling Understandable

IN A DECISION handed down a few days ago, the supreme court ruled that a case must be retried because all persons who work for a daily wage were excluded from the panel from which the jury was drawn. With this ruling a minority of the justices issued a sharp dissent and it is easy to understand their misgivings.

It is unquestionably true, as the majority of the court contends, that a man paid on a daily basis is no less competent to serve on a federal jury than one paid by the week or month. He should not be denied the opportunity to serve. But, as a practical matter, jury duty involves a heavy financial sacrifice as a rule to the man paid by the day. Few are willing to serve and the courts have been lenient in excusing them.

This will probably continue to be true even though day laborers are placed on jury panels, as a result of the court's decision, in places where they are now automatically left off the lists. But what disturbs the minority of the court is the prospect that this ruling may lead to case after case being opened to retrial because one group or another has not been included in the jury list.

As the minority says, federal judges have a real problem when it comes to relieving day laborers from jury service and, in a case, day laborers do not have a different social outlook—which may be the main concern of the justices—sense of justice and conception of jury responsibility than men paid weekly.

It seems reasonable to insist that day laborers be given an opportunity to serve on federal juries. It seems far less reasonable to throw out a verdict and order a case retried because there were no day laborers among the jury.

The Chinese are reported to have invented the cross word puzzle more than ten centuries ago. It must have been quite a trick then since no one had yet heard of the printer's measure em and the Australian emu.

The vocal acrobatics currently being engaged in by Washington bureaucrats, who mortally dread the prospect of being chased away from the trough, has never been exceeded in American politics.

Bright-hued plastic raincoats are promised. Soon we may be using a new simile: "As colorful as a very cloudy day."

Records Disclose Increased Safety In Coal Mining

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Last year 947 soft coal miners were killed. These are the figures of the U. S. Bureau of Mines. This means that one man in 400 was killed; that mining is our most hazardous major industry. It indicates the need for unending research to improve conditions in the mines. To such extent, John L. Lewis is right.

But before turning over $60,000,000 a year to Mr. Lewis, to do with as he sees fit, we ought to get our facts in perspective. The Bureau of Mines' figures show that the mines are getting safer every year. Last year 947 were killed, but in 1930 the figure was 1,619. In no year since 1930 has the number of men permanently and totally disabled equalled 100 In 1943, it was twenty-three.

These official figures are to be contrasted with the Lewis claim that in fourteen years the mine owners "made dead 28,000 and horribly mangled 1,004,000." The dead in fourteen years were 14,615, or about one-half the Lewis figure; the totally disabled were 691, and the permanently but partially disabled were 19,222.

The rate killed per million tons of coal mined in 1945 was only forty-seven percent of the 1930 figure. In short, there has been a fifty-three percent improvement

Federal Record Worse

As against this, the United States record for accidental deaths shows little improvement. In 1930, 95,379 were killed by accident in the United States; in 1940, the last peace-time year, the figure was 96,-885. Drunken or careless drivers killed thirty times as many in 1940 as were killed in coal mine accidents.

If the record of improvement on accidental deaths throughout the United States had been as good as in coal mining, 49,550 lives would have been saved in the one year of 1940. In short ,the coal mines have a better record for improvement than the American public.

If the Lewis charges were supported by the facts, they would be a terrific indictment, not only of the mine owners but of public officials, federal and state. What have they all been doing these past fourteen years? The great soft coal states, such as Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, etc., have had New Deal governors, legislatures and mine inspectators, no doubt humanitarians to the last man. Why, then, have we waited all these years for John L. Lewis to make his first demand for a "$60,000,000 welfare" fund to be administered by him, without accountability to anyone?

Funds for Politics

Why, too, shouldn't union funds be used for the benefit of labor union members? Yet, in 1936, John L. Lewis, without consulting his coal miners, used $600,000 of their money to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt. That year 1,098 miners were killed. The $600,-000 would have put $600 each in the hands of their widows.

If $60,000,000 (which is 100 times his 1936 campaign contribution) were placed in the hands of John L. Lewis each year how much would be used for miners and how much for politics?

Mr. Lewis is, by all odds, the ablest labor leader in America. And whatever else may be said of him, he does not take orders from Moscow. He has served his men well. His present demands should be read in the light of the terrific struggle for power now going on in the labor world. Hillman, Murray and Reuther are his chief rivals. The red press and radio are howling for his blood. So, read between the lines and keep your shirt (if any) on. Remember that Shakespeare, the Lewis favorite, said, "All the world's a stage," where players, "cleave the general air with horrid speech."

DISCLOSES SECRET

A GERM SPRAY, "far more deadly than the atom bomb," is the nation's newest secret weapon. It is indicated in Washington by Rep. Albert Thomas, of Texas, that details of the spray had been given to the House Appropriations committee by Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire (above) head of the navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery.

WHO SEEKS TO DESTROY WHOM?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Senate Group, at Closed-Door Sessions, Voted for Inflation, Pearson Asserts

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 28—Though dwarfed by the labor news over the weekend, last Saturday's closed-door session of the Senate Banking and Currency committee, which virtually buried price control, was just as significant. It opened the way to vastly increased food costs, the very thing labor has been striking against.

Sen. Ernest McFarland, Arizona Democrat, sprang a surprise when he offered his amendments to the Stabilization act providing for the dropping of all price controls on meat, poultry, and dairy products. A day earlier, the committee had accepted Sen. Taft's proposal for a special "decontrol board" for gradually removing price regulations on various products, and it was thought that this would be satisfactory to the cattle pleaders.

Iowa's Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, though a Republican, was one of McFarland's chief supporters.

"It is best to vote this amendment in committee," he said in the secret session, "because if we go to the floor without it, it's certain to be put in and then it will open the gates for exempting a dozen other products."

Barkley was not impressed by Hickenlooper's solicitude for price control, and disagreed sharply.

"You know that's foolishness," he shot back. "If we go to the floor with these amendments exempting some products, we are simply inviting amendments from the floor exempting all sorts of other products."

However, the meat amendment carried by 10 to 8, with McFarland joining with a solid Republican vote and also voting the proxy of Sen. Edward Carville, Nevada Democrat. He and Carville were the only Democrats supporting the amendment.

Utah Senator Votes "No"

As the vote was announced, Sen. Abe Murdock, of Utah, himself a cattleman, remarked:

"Well, that makes me at least $2,500—but I'm glad I voted against it and I wish it hadn't passed."

Murdock had spoken earlier against the amendment which he estimated would cost the American housewife at the very least $1,300,-000,000 in the next year.

After the decontrol amendments passed, there was some argument about the date on which they were to become effective. Although the language of the amendments themselves indicated decontrol as of June 30, McFarland himself seemed worried and suggested that the price controls he wanted eliminated should be maintained until October.

Sen. Taylor, of Idaho, immediately declared: "That will mean we won't see a steak between now and October. If we're going to do this thing at all, let's do it right away because we all know how much meat we'll see under present controls when the industry knows that by waiting a month it can name its own price."

Barkley supported Taylor, and the June 30 date was maintained.

Note: So completely did the committee majority understand that it was voting for inflation that there was not even any serious protest when Sen. Mitchell promised, before the meeting closed, that he will introduce an amendment striking the word "wages" from the Stabilization act. This, of course, would decontrol wages.

Bumbling John Snyder

Those who have sat in on the secret sessions of the current strike crisis say that if any one man is responsible for all the labor fumbling, it is the gentleman sitting at Truman's right hand—hard-drinking, molasses-moving John Wesley Snyder.

It was Snyder who appeared before the reconversion advisory committee several weeks ago and, with a great air of confidence, proclaimed that the threatened coal strike was nothing to worry about. The miners will take a little rest for about ten days, he advised, and then go back to work.

"Let 'em strike," was Snyder's brazen advice.

Not only had he completely failed to gauge the temper of the miners, but he preached the fatal doctrine of procrastination—the doctrine which has become the root cause of most Truman strike troubles.

Every time other White House advisers have urged the president to meet a situation before it gets difficult, they encounter the constant, depressing, do-nothing influence of John Snyder. Secretary of the Treasury Fred Vinson, Bob Hannegan, Secretary of State Byrnes who has even moved, temporarily, from the foreign to the domestic field, all have tried to alert Truman to impending trouble.

But the procrastinating Mr. Snyder shakes his head. Mere warnings of catastrophe fail to wean him away from his highball. Catastrophe has to hit him square in the face before he will even begin to move. Everything will work out all right, is his philosophy. Let people suffer a little, then the strike will be over. Let 'em battle things out. Don't get your own fingers burned.

Secret of Snyder's Hold

Snyder's philosophy is exactly the opposite of Roosevelt's and the men trained under Roosevelt who now serve in the Truman cabinet. His method is identical with that of Herbert Hoover who waited until the bonus army had piled up in Washington, who would not move regarding the depression until farmers were threatening to lynch judges in Iowa. Snyder seems to want the wound to fester before applying the poultice.

Many people have wondered what hold Snyder has over Harry Truman. Bob Hannegan, who has done his best to get Snyder out of the White House, says it is because both men went through hard times together. Others say it is because they both trained with the same Missouri National Guard unit in the summers.

Whatever the hold, it is tight. For Hannegan, Chester Bowles, Fred Vinson, all have done their best to break the Snyder spell — without success. Like his old friendship with Boss Pendergast, of Kansas City, Harry Truman puts personal allegiance above national welfare.

Note—Though Snyder has been widely touted as a St. Louis banker, actually his days anywhere near the top of the banking profession are almost nil. Up until 1930, he was only a small-town bank teller and cashier in Arkansas, and, like a lot of other people who couldn't make a go of it in private business, got a job with the government under Herbert Hoover. For the next thirteen years, 1930-1943, he worked in the comptroller general's office, later under Jesse Jones's wing in the RFC. Finally the Jones influence helped him get a vice-presidency in the First National Bank of St. Louis, but he was there only two years, and that bank has now turned thumbs down on Snyder's return.

Congress Forgets Disaster Peril, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Memories are short. Just a few days ago the nation was in the midst of a nationwide rail strike and economic paralysis. The people were demanding that the president act in their behalf and take any action to preserve the nation's health.

So Mr. Truman went to Congress and asked for drastic legislation, and as he spoke the rail strike was ended and immediately the crisis atmosphere vanished.

Now the Congress is forgetting what happened and cries out that it is a crime to draft a man to work to save the nation from starvation and disease. If the draft for that purpose were unconstitutional then it would be equally invalid to ask a man to accept draft at anytime into the arm even against an enemy. Self preservation is the first law of the state.

But granting that the president was trying only to provide some way to avoid recurrence of the economic catastrophe that the nation faced last week, it does not follow that the legislation he recommended is necessarily the way to deal with the situation.

Penalty a Mistake

The president would have been better advised not to make the draft into the army a penalty. The whole theory of the work-or-fight slogan has been opposed in these dispatches many times. Service in the army cannot be made a punishment. It is a privilege of service. If the bill had been written so as to empower the president to call into military service in time of emergency any citizens whose experience or skills may be needed to operate essential facilities so as to maintain public health or safety, he would have put the draft on more logical grounds. For, after all, in time of flood, or disaster the chief executive has a moral right to call on any able-bodied person to help in the work of rescue.

The bill also is defective in its references to the conditions under which the government takes over a plant or facility. The status quo should be maintained both as to employers and employes while governmental machinery to prescribe a settlement is permitted to function.

The Senate has plenty of time to amend the House bill and make it less an instrument of coercion and more a means of keeping unimpaired essential facilities. There is simply no logic in the position of Messrs Whitney and Johnston that they have a right to punish the American people by interrupting the mails and the distribution of food.

Money Threat a Boomerang

The ill-tempered blast from the union leaders that they are going to spend $47,000,000 if necessary to defeat Mr. Truman will rally the country behind the president and particularly will it hasten the passage of legislation making permanent that which is now temporary in the Smith-Connally law, namely the provisions forbidding the use of union or corporation funds for political purposes.

Unfortunately for the country it is not yet clear whether Mr. Truman has really determined to fight the abuses which have been practiced for ten years through the Wagner law. It looks as if Mr. Truman has merely recommended a piece of temporary legislation in respect to strikes in essential industries but this legislation is to lapse when the war is formally declared at an end. This means that the recent catastrophe can be repeated. That's no solution.

Likewise it appears that Mr. Truman's henchmen are pointing out to organized labor that the drastic temporary legislation will affect only a few industries and only for a short time, whereas the Ball-Smith-Taft bill passed by the Senate as a substitute for the Case bill passed by the House is really the measure that organized labor wants to see killed. Apparently the administration is ready to accomplish that purpose, for already its spokesmen in the House are trying hard to block the plan to have a vote on accepting the Senate bill and thus insure a joint conference procedure through which pro-labor elements could keep the measure from being acted on at this session of Congress.

Checkmating Maneuver

There is talk on Capitol Hill of tacking the Ball-Smith-Taft bill on to the temporary measure so as to checkmate the tactics of the administration in the House. A rider is an undesirable means of attaining an objective but when used as a reprisal against the efforts of the party in power to deny the House a chance to vote for the Senate-passed bill it may be considered justified.

The president could win the plaudits of the nation if he announced now that he would sign the bill passed by both houses as a substitute for the Case bill. It remains to be seen whether he really is playing politics still and will veto the bill or whether he has determined to follow the wishes of the American people who want their president to stand up courageously against all extremists and bring about a better balanced law on labor relations

Latent Strength

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Birth itself is a revealing mystery, but the revelations after birth are quite as wonderful and revealing. None of us knows our latent strength — but it's there! And one of the great master keys to this latent strength is faith in one's self.

Every great career exemplifies this faith. Like the scientist who spends himself in long hours, day and night, searching for answers to his questioning mind, so men and women rise from defeat after defeat, loss after loss—demonstrating the faith that leads to every triumph over discouragement.

It's this latent strength that creates every "winner, and the new Champion" in every contest in life. Often this triumph comes to the one who least expected it—he not even realizing the latent power within him. How important, therefore, to believe that you have it!

My barber recently showed me a photograph of himself in a military picture, taken in Texas many years ago. In the center was his Captain—none other than the now world-famous General Eisenhower! That Captain would have smiled if anyone had predicted then that he would some day lead the greatest armies in all history, and reach the highest pinnacle in military achievement. That inborn, latent strength was there, however—and every step upward proved it.

It never pays to step backward merely because of a defeat, or even a series of them. Each one is like the failures that the scientist and the inventor encounter all along the way to their final triumph. I once witnessed Edison demonstrate his final success in producing the electric light. But a great string of failures were behind all the experiments that he made. He just kept on trying. He had latent faith that finally won over every failure.

We can never predict our moment of triumph. But we can have confidence that it will some day appear. It is that day for which we expend all our thought and effort. We must keep adding to our new beginnings until we touch the spark that gives the light to our final victory!

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

My brother and I went to the ball game last Sunday. It was a double-header . . . We'd both been out the night before with Ray Milland.

You know, they say baseball is the great American pastime. I sat next to Betty Grable . . . it's a lie!

But there were a lot of people there and I was glad to see that because I'd heard the Mexican league was going to give us plenty of competition this year. It's really nothing to worry about, however . . . After all, how far can you hit a hot tamale?

But the real problem in coast league baseball is that of housing for the players. In between innings a guy gets out with a megaphone and says, "Kimball pitching . . Kalin batting for Fausett . . and who's got an apartment for Moran? They don't ask to see a guy's batting and fielding averages any more; he's on the team if he can show a year's lease. And they bench. They can't . . . at the beginning of the season it was rented to the umpire's family from Oklahoma.

When I was there one player was arrested for stealing pop-bottle cases. It was very touching. . . when they dragged him away, he was screaming, "And I needed only two more to finish the bedroom!" At the end of the game the box score read, "No runs, no hits, no vacancies!"

Important Points That Should Not Be Dodged

WHETHER President Truman was "ham acting" as charged by Senator Morse (R-Ore) when he delivered his recommendations to the joint session of both houses of Congress on the railroad strike disaster is somewhat beside the point. The meat of the matter is that the president was acting, whether "ham" or otherwise, and in an emergency that called for drastic action to avert continuation of a calamity which was extant and real, however caused by avoidable blunders and mistaken policy. It was an emergency that put him on the spot to exercise the bounden duties of his office.

Also, the abrogation of the rail strike was not due to the action of the president alone but to the palpable sharp registration of a nation-wide clamor by the people that something be done, which forced him to move. There is little question that the cessation of the strike was influenced by that important factor.

Another item in the news that demonstrated the avoidance of an important point was the declaration by President A. F. Whitney, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in excoriating President Truman for proposing emergency strike legislation to Congress "merely because they [the trainmen] were asking for increased wages and working rules that were long overdue."

The proposal was made not merely for that, which is something that could have been determined and should have been determined through collective bargaining without resort to the strike weapon. It was made primarily because the strike was not against the railroads but against the government of the United States, which had seized them for the necessary purpose of continuing their operation and preventing hardships and suffering among the people through disruption of the national economy. Therein the striking unions blundered.

It is important that the real points of the strike situation as here noted be kept in mind.

The Fundamentals Must Be Reformed

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, notes the "Pittsburgh Press," can seize the coal mines and the railroads, but he cannot be sure that the miners and the railway men will work for the government. "He can beg Messrs. Whitney, Lewis and Johnston to tell the men to work, but they are free to ignore such a request. And the power of the union leaders differs only in degree, not in kind, from that of Lewis, Whitney and Johnston."

That is the crux of the problem and the reason for the extraordinary call for emergency legislation to remedy it. Workers cannot be sent back to work against their will. The thing to do is not to resort to coercion and punishment, but to bring about such a situation as will make the workers willing to remain at work or to return to work through the free operation of the system of collective bargaining.

Although purposing to "diminish the causes of labor disputes," Congress, supreme court decisions and administration policy have pursued an exactly opposite course. These have tied the hands of management and permitted unions to grow into monopolies and to exercise privileges prohibited not only to management but to the rest of the community. The results have climaxed into two great national disasters.

Obviously the thing to do is to correct and reform the fundamental causes by revising labor relations laws and regulations to the level of equality for all. And that can and must be done without impairing the inherent rights of the workingmen. There is a clear road to industrial peace, which all desire, and it should be followed.

Wise Recommendations By Governor Martin

GOVERNOR EDWARD MARTIN, of Pennsylvania, has done the sensible and—timely thing in calling upon executives of the nation's states, at the annual governors' conference at Oaklahoma City, to aid in decentralization of government by "taking care of their own financial burdens."

Not only would such action serve to curb the encroachment of federal authority over the states, which has grown enormously, but, as Governor Martin asserted, it would go a long way in bettering the financial condition of the federal government, and that, of course, would benefit the citizenry through lessened federal tax requirements.

Governor Martin, chairman of the conference, outlined a four-point program to be considered by the conference. The first called for balanced budgets and less expenditures for each level of government. The second recommended a tax plan where each level of government may have certain taxes earmarked for its own use and have certain functions to perform.

Here is involved the important question of duplicated and overlapping taxation, which has long called for correction. There should be separate and distinct fields of state and federal taxation.

The third point of the suggested program called for just that not only in matters of taxation but otherwise, it being that there should be elimination of duplication and overlapping in government all around.

The fourth point was that "every level of government, our school system, our labor, agricultural and business organizations, and our churches should assume certain responsibilities. They should all teach willing obedience of the laws and the decrees of our courts; urge all to take a greater interest in government; uphold the greatness and glory of America and insist that respect for the rights of others is a duty imposed upon us as good citizens."

All of that is important. Much of the deplorable condition into which the nation has been allowed to lapse, at a time when there should be teamwork and co-operation toward productive endeavor to make good the great postwar opportunity facing the country, has been due to the unfortunate propensity of the people to avoid and escape responsibilities.

With regard to the assumption or rather the reassumption, of financial burdens by the states, which is sound and necessary, it is essential that the relinquishment of federal pouring of moneys into the states be done with due regard to obligations already entered upon. Worthy projects already undertaken by the federal government and partly completed—as, for example, the Savage river dam project for this region, the Cumberland flood control project and the Cumberland airport—upon which large sums have already been contributed by the federal government, should be carried out to completion. These are committments which cannot in reason be escaped.

But aside from such projects and those expenditures which are distinctly of a federal nature, the decentralization program advocated should proceed apace. The governors of the state would do well to take emphatic action thereupon.

Misgivings over Jury Ruling Understandable

IN A DECISION handed down a few days ago, the supreme court ruled that a case must be retried because all persons who work for a daily wage were excluded from the panel from which the jury was drawn. With this ruling a minority of the justices issued a sharp dissent and it is easy to understand their misgivings.

It is unquestionably true, as the majority of the court contends, that a man paid on a daily basis is no less competent to serve on a federal jury than one paid by the week or month. He should not be denied the opportunity to serve. But, as a practical matter, jury duty involves a heavy financial sacrifice as a rule to the man paid by the day. Few are willing to serve and the courts have been lenient in excusing them.

This will probably continue to be true even though day laborers are placed on jury panels, as a result of the court's decision, in places where they are now automatically left off the lists. But what disturbs the minority of the court is the prospect that this ruling may lead to case after case being opened to retrial because one group or another has not been included in the jury list.

As the minority says, federal judges have a real problem when it comes to relieving day laborers from jury service and, in a case, day laborers do not have a different social outlook—which may be the main concern of the justices—sense of justice and conception of jury responsibility than men paid weekly.

It seems reasonable to insist that day laborers be given an opportunity to serve on federal juries. It seems far less reasonable to throw out a verdict and order a case retried because there were no day laborers among the jury.

The Chinese are reported to have invented the cross word puzzle more than ten centuries ago. It must have been quite a trick then since no one had yet heard of the printer's measure em and the Australian emu.

The vocal acrobatics currently being engaged in by Washington bureaucrats, who mortally dread the prospect of being chased away from the trough, has never been exceeded in American politics.

Bright-hued plastic raincoats are promised. Soon we may be using a new simile: "As colorful as a very cloudy day."

Records Disclose Increased Safety In Coal Mining

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Last year 947 soft coal miners were killed. These are the figures of the U. S. Bureau of Mines. This means that one man in 400 was killed; that mining is our most hazardous major industry. It indicates the need for unending research to improve conditions in the mines. To such extent, John L. Lewis is right.

But before turning over $60,000,000 a year to Mr. Lewis, to do with as he sees fit, we ought to get our facts in perspective. The Bureau of Mines' figures show that the mines are getting safer every year. Last year 947 were killed, but in 1930 the figure was 1,619. In no year since 1930 has the number of men permanently and totally disabled equalled 100. In 1943, it was twenty-three.

These official figures are to be contrasted with the Lewis claim that in fourteen years the mine owners "made dead 28,000 and horribly mangled 1,004,000." The dead in fourteen years were 14,615, or about one-half the Lewis figure; the totally disabled were 691, and the permanently but partially disabled were 19,222.

The rate killed per million tons of coal mined in 1945 was only forty-seven percent of the 1930 figure. In short, there has been a fifty-three percent improvement.

Federal Record Worse

As against this, the United States record for accidental deaths shows little improvement. In 1930, 95,379 were killed by accident in the United States; in 1940, the last peace-time year, the figure was 96,885. Drunken or careless drivers killed thirty times as many in 1940 as were killed in coal mine accidents.

If the record of improvement on accidental deaths throughout the United States had been as good as in coal mining, 49,550 lives would have been saved in the one year of 1940. In short, the coal mines have a better record for improvement than the American public.

If the Lewis charges were supported by the facts, they would be a terrific indictment, not only of the mine owners but of public officials, federal and state. What have they all been doing these past fourteen years? The great soft coal states, such as Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, etc., have had New Deal governors, legislatures and mine inspectators, no doubt humanitarians to the last man. Why, then, have we waited all these years for John L. Lewis to make his first demand for a "$60,000,000 welfare" fund to be administered by him, without accountability to anyone?

Funds for Politics

Why, too, shouldn't union funds be used for the benefit of labor union members? Yet, in 1936, John L. Lewis, without consulting his coal miners, used $600,000 of their money to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt. That year 1,098 miners were killed. The $600,000 would have put $600 each in the hands of their widows.

If $60,000,000 (which is 100 times his 1936 campaign contribution) were placed in the hands of John L. Lewis each year how much would be used for miners and how much for politics?

Mr. Lewis is, by all odds, the ablest labor leader in America. And whatever else may be said of him, he does not take orders from Moscow. He has served his men well. His present demands should be read in the light of the terrific struggle for power now going on in the labor world. Hillman, Murray and Reuther are his chief rivals. The red press and radio are howling for his blood. So, read between the lines and keep your shirt (if any) on. Remember that Shakespeare, the Lewis favorite, said, "All the world's a stage," where players, "cleave the general ear with horrid speech."

DISCLOSES SECRET

A GERM SPRAY, "far more deadly than the atom bomb," is the nation's newest secret weapon. It is indicated in Washington by Rep. Albert Thomas, of Texas, that details of the spray had been given to the House Appropriations committee by Vice Adm. Ross T. McIntire (above), head of the navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery.

WHO SEEKS TO DESTROY WHOM?

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 28—Though dwarfed by the labor news over the weekend, last Saturday's closed-door session of the Senate Banking and Currency committee, which virtually buried price control, was just as significant. It opened the way to vastly increased food costs, the very thing labor has been striking against.

Sen. Ernest McFarland, Arizona Democrat, sprang a surprise when he offered his amendments to the Stabilization act providing for the dropping of all price controls on meat, poultry, and dairy products. A day earlier, the committee had accepted Sen. Taft's proposal for a special "decontrol board" for gradually removing price regulations on various products, and it was thought that this would be satisfactory to the cattle pleaders.

Iowa's Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, though a Republican, was one of McFarland's chief supporters.

"It is best to vote this amendment in committee," he said in the secret session, "because if we go to the floor without it, it's certain to be put in and then it will open the gates for exempting a dozen other products."

Barkley was not impressed by Hickenlooper's solicitude for price control, and disagreed sharply.

"You know that's foolishness," he shot back. "If we go to the floor with these amendments exempting some products, we are simply inviting amendments from the floor exempting all sorts of other products."

However, the meat amendment carried by 10 to 8, with McFarland joining with a solid Republican vote and also voting the proxy of Sen. Edward Carville, Nevada Democrat. He and Carville were the only Democrats supporting the amendment.

Utah Senator Votes "No"

As the vote was announced, Sen. Abe Murdock, of Utah, himself a cattleman, remarked:

"Well, that makes me at least $2,500—but I'm glad I voted against it and I wish it hadn't passed."

Murdock had spoken earlier against the amendment which he estimated would cost the American housewife at the very least $1,300,000,000 in the next year.

After the decontrol amendments passed, there was some argument about the date on which they were to become effective. Although the language of the amendments themselves indicated decontrol as of June 30, McFarland himself seemed worried and suggested that the price controls he wanted eliminated should be maintained until October.

Sen. Taylor, of Idaho, immediately declared: "That will mean we won't see a steak between now and October. If we're going to do this thing at all, let's do it right away, because we all know how much meat we'll see under present controls when the industry knows that by waiting a month it can name its own price."

Barkley supported Taylor, and the June 30 date was maintained.

Note: So completely did the committee majority understand that it was voting for inflation that there was not even any serious protest when Sen. Mitchell promised, before the meeting closed, that he will introduce an amendment striking the word "wages" from the Stabilization act. This, of course, would decontrol wages.

Bumbling John Snyder

Those who have sat in on the secret sessions of the current strike crisis say that if any one man is responsible for all the labor fumbling, it is the gentleman sitting at Truman's right hand—hard-drinking, molasses-moving John Wesley Snyder.

It was Snyder who appeared before the reconversion advisory committee several weeks ago and, with a great air of confidence, proclaimed that the threatened coal strike was nothing to worry about. The miners will take a little rest for about ten days, he advised, and then go back to work.

"Let 'em strike," was Snyder's brazen advice.

Not only had he completely failed to gauge the temper of the miners, but he preached the fatal doctrine of procrastination—the doctrine which has become the root cause of most Truman strike troubles.

Every time other White House advisers have urged the president to meet a situation before it gets difficult, they encounter the constant, depressing, do-nothing influence of John Snyder. Secretary of the Treasury Fred Vinson, Bob Hannegan, Secretary of State Byrnes who has even moved, temporarily, from the foreign to the domestic field, all have tried to alert Truman to impending trouble.

But the procrastinating Mr. Snyder shakes his head. Mere warnings of catastrophe fail to wean him away from his highball. Catastrophe has to hit him square in the face before he will even begin to move. Everything will work out all right, is his philosophy. Let people suffer a little, then the strike will be over. Let 'em battle things out. Don't get your own fingers burned.

Secret of Snyder's Hold

Snyder's philosophy is exactly the opposite of Roosevelt's and the men trained under Roosevelt who now serve in the Truman cabinet. His method is identical with that of Herbert Hoover who waited until the bonus army had piled up in Washington, who would not move regarding the depression until farmers were threatening to lynch judges in Iowa. Snyder seems to want the wound to fester before applying the poultice.

Many people have wondered what hold Snyder has over Harry Truman. Bob Hannegan, who has done his best to get Snyder out of the White House, says it is because both men went through hard times together. Others say it is because they both trained with the same Missouri National Guard unit in the summers.

Whatever the hold, it is tight. For Hannegan, Chester Bowles, Fred Vinson, all have done their best to break the Snyder spell — without success. Like his old friendship with Boss Pendergast, of Kansas City, Harry Truman puts personal allegiance above national welfare.

Note—Though Snyder has been widely touted as a St. Louis banker, actually his days anywhere near the top of the banking profession are almost nil. Up until 1930, he was only a small-town bank teller and cashier in Arkansas, and, like a lot of other people who couldn't make a go of it in private business, got a job with the government under Herbert Hoover. For the next thirteen years, 1930-1943, he worked in the comptroller general's office, later under Jesse Jones's wing in the RFC. Finally the Jones influence helped him get a vice-presidency in the First National Bank of St. Louis, but he was there only two years, and that bank has now turned thumbs down on Snyder's return.

Congress Forgets Disaster Peril, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Memories are short. Just a few days ago the nation was in the midst of a nationwide rail strike and economic paralysis. The people were demanding that the president act in their behalf and take any action to preserve the nation's health.

So Mr. Truman went to Congress and asked for drastic legislation, and as he spoke the rail strike was ended and immediately the crisis atmosphere vanished.

Now the Congress is forgetting what happened and cries out that it is a crime to draft a man to work to save the nation from starvation and disease. If the draft for that purpose were unconstitutional then it would be equally invalid to ask a man to accept draft at anytime into the arm even against an enemy. Self preservation is the first law of the state.

But granting that the president was trying only to provide some way to avoid recurrence of the economic catastrophe that the nation faced last week, it does not follow that the legislation he recommended is necessarily the way to deal with the situation.

Penalty a Mistake

The president would have been better advised not to make the draft into the army a penalty. The whole theory of the work-or-fight slogan has been opposed in these dispatches many times. Service in the army cannot be made a punishment. It is a privilege of service. If the bill had been written so as to empower the president to call into military service in time of emergency any citizens whose experience or skills may be needed to operate essential facilities so as to maintain public health or safety, he would have put the draft on more logical grounds. For, after all, in time of flood, or disaster the chief executive has a moral right to call on any able-bodied person to help in the work of rescue.

The bill also is defective in its references to the conditions under which the government takes over a plant or facility. The status quo should be maintained both as to employers and employes while governmental machinery to prescribe a settlement is permitted to function.

The Senate has plenty of time to amend the House bill and make it less an instrument of coercion and more a means of keeping unimpaired essential facilities. There is simply no logic in the position of Messrs. Whitney and Johnston that they have a right to punish the American people by interrupting the mails and the distribution of food.

Money Threat a Boomerang

The ill-tempered blast from the union leaders that they are going to spend $47,000,000 if necessary to defeat Mr. Truman will rally the country behind the president and particularly will it hasten the passage of legislation making permanent that which is now temporary in the Smith-Connally law, namely the provisions forbidding the use of union or corporation funds for political purposes.

Unfortunately for the country it is not yet clear whether Mr. Truman has really determined to fight the abuses which have been practiced for ten years through the Wagner law. It looks as if Mr. Truman has merely recommended a piece of temporary legislation in respect to strikes in essential industries but this legislation is to lapse when the war is formally declared at an end. This means that the recent catastrophe can be repeated. That's no solution.

Likewise it appears that Mr. Truman's henchmen are pointing out to organized labor that the drastic temporary legislation will affect only a few industries and only for a short time, whereas the Ball-Smith-Taft bill passed by the Senate as a substitute for the Case bill passed by the House is really the measure that organized labor wants to see killed. Apparently the administration is ready to accomplish that purpose, for already its spokesmen in the House are trying hard to block the plan to have a vote on accepting the Senate bill and thus insure a joint conference procedure through which pro-labor elements could keep the measure from being acted on at this session of Congress.

Checkmating Maneuver

There is talk on Capitol Hill of tacking the Ball-Smith-Taft bill on to the temporary measure so as to checkmate the tactics of the administration in the House. A rider is an undesirable means of attaining an objective but when used as a reprisal against the efforts of the party in power to deny the House a chance to vote for the Senate-passed bill it may be considered justified.

The president could win the plaudits of the nation if he announced now that he would sign the bill passed by both houses as a substitute for the Case bill. It remains to be seen whether he really is playing politics still and will veto the bill or whether he has determined to follow the wishes of the American people who want their president to stand up courageously against all extremists and bring about a better balanced law on labor relations.

Latent Strength

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Birth itself is a revealing mystery, but the revelations after birth are quite as wonderful and revealing. None of us knows our latent strength — but it's there! And one of the great master keys to this latent strength is faith in one's self.

Every great career exemplifies this faith. Like the scientist who spends himself in long hours, day and night, searching for answers to his questioning mind, so men and women rise from defeat after defeat, loss after loss—demonstrating the faith that leads to every triumph over discouragement.

It's this latent strength that creates every "winner," and the new Champion" in every contest in life. Often this triumph comes to the one who least expected it—he not even realizing the latent power within him. How important, therefore, to believe that you have it!

My barber recently showed me a photograph of himself in a military picture, taken in Texas many years ago. In the center was his Captain—none other than the now world-famous General Eisenhower! That Captain would have smiled if anyone had predicted then that he would some day lead the greatest armies in all history, and reach the highest pinnacle in military achievement. That inborn, latent strength was there, however—and every step upward proved it.

It never pays to step backward merely because of a defeat, or even a series of them. Each one is like the failures that the scientist and the inventor encounter all along the way to their final triumph. I once witnessed Edison demonstrate his final success in producing the electric light. But a great string of failures were behind all the experiments that he made. He just kept on trying. He had latent faith that finally won over every failure.

We can never predict our moment of triumph. But we can have confidence that it will some day appear. It is that day for which we expend all our thought and effort. We must keep adding to our new beginnings until we touch the spark that gives the light to our final victory!

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

My brother and I went to the ball game last Sunday. It was a double-header . . . We'd both been out the night before with Ray Milland.

You know, they say baseball is the great American pastime. I sat next to Betty Grable . . . it's a lie!

But there were a lot of people there and I was glad to see that because I'd heard the Mexican league was going to give us plenty of competition this year. It's really nothing to worry about, however . . . After all, how far can you hit a hot tamale?

But the real problem in coast league baseball is that of housing for the players. In between innings a guy gets out with a megaphone and says, "Kimball pitching . . Kalin batting for Fausett . . and who's got an apartment for Moran? They don't ask to see a guy's batting and fielding averages any more; he's on the team if he can show a year's lease. And they bench. They can't . . . at the beginning of the season it was rented to the umpire's family from Oklahoma.

When I was there one player was arrested for stealing pop-bottle cases. It was very touching . . when they dragged him away, he was screaming, "And I needed only two more to finish the bedroom!" At the end of the game the box score read, "No runs, no hits, no vacancies!"

The Human Body Is More Complex Than an Automobile

★ You wouldn't take your car to a garage and refuse to tell the mechanic what was wrong. The mechanic would have every right to doubt your sanity. Yet people frequently refuse to tell the physician of their ailments. They are anxious to have an "unbiased opinion."

You can save time and expense by being frank with your physician. To do a competent job of diagnosis he needs the history of your symptoms. The human body is far more complex than an automobile. For the best results give him all the facts.

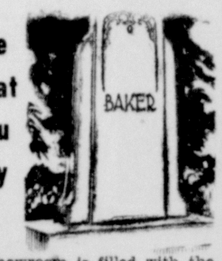

All we need is the physician's prescription. We are competent to compound it exactly as he specifies.

B and P Women To Be Hosts For Regional Meeting

Symbols of Club Emblem Are Explained by Miss Gerardine Pritchard

The Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club will invite the clubs from the area to a regional meeting here ~~October 12~~; Miss Theresa Nicht was named state parliamentarian; and Miss Orpha Benita Pritchard was named representative to the OPA to replace Miss Louise Cornell, resigned.

Plans were also formulated at the dinner-meeting last evening at Central YMCA for the next meeting to be held in the form of a picnic on June 11 at Constitution park, with Mrs. Flora Blackwell, Recreation chairman, in charge. Five overseas boxes for Business and Professional Women in war torn countries were packed last evening under the chairmanship of Dr. Elizabeth Barabash, assisted by Miss Nan Livingston. Miss Anna Nicht presided and reported on the state convention held in Hagerstown, earlier this month.

The feature of the program was a review of the "Storm," by George Stewart, given by Miss Mary G. Walsh, who explained that in the book the storms are the heroines and are shown to bring death and destruction as well as relief from heat and draught. The story is told by a junior meteorologist in San Francisco, who gives the storms women's names on his map. Myra, the most popular one lasts twelve days.

Miss Lillian Compton was in charge of the program which consisted of three features; "Thumb Nail Facts of the Federation of B and P Women's Clubs," given by Miss Anne Tennant; an explanation of the club emblem, by Miss Gerardine Pritchard and violin selections by Miss Datha Thomas, with Mrs. Lillian S. Stewart at the piano.

The five symbols of the emblem were briefly explained by Miss Pritchard as follows, the Torch, representing wisdom and leadership, stressed in the educational program of the organization; the Wand representing co-ordination and co-operation with all mankind; the Ship, the entrance of women into the business world, representing contact of women of other countries by international relations program; the Scroll when in 1919 the organization began to unroll for business and professional women and their activities and efforts were recorded, as represented in the public and legislative affairs; and the Winged Victory, the dominant figure which represents the club as courageously victorious. She explained that the initials for the national Federation of Business and Professional Women encircle the edge of the emblem and the golden circle represents the wholeness or unity of the club.

Miss Thomas played Londonderry Air, Hungarian Dance No. 6, Brahms; Ciri biri bin, and Auld Lang Saing, after which the entire group sang the song. Twenty-eight members and one guest, Miss Mary Wickard attended.

—The maid of honor is usually custodian of the groom's ring in a double wedding ceremony.

Delta Theta Chi Plans Picnic; Names Committee

James B. Craig Illustrates Talk of SWP Islands with His Sketches

Maryland Alpha Chapter of Delta Theta Chi sorority formulated plans for a picnic and Mrs. Helen Burke appointed the nominating committee at the business meeting Monday evening at Central YMCA.

James B. Craig, News reporter and veteran of three years' duty in the Southwest Pacific, was the guest speaker.

Miss Rose McMahon, Mrs. Margaret Clancey, Mrs. Catherine Beall and Mrs. Emma Crawford will be hostesses for the picnic, which will be held in Constitution park, June 24, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Miss Mary Apple was named chairman of the nominating committee which also includes Miss Ruth Miller and Miss Jeanette Bonig. The election of officers will be held at the meeting June 10 at the Y.

Mr. Craig discussed his various stations in the Pacific and illustrated with some of the sketches he had drawn while there. Beginning with his trip from New York and through the Panama Canal he briefly described the various islands dwelling mostly about the people.

Bora Bora which he said was about ninety miles from Tahiti and similar to it, was his favorite, he said. The climate is ideal and its women are quite beautiful. He also described its volcanic harbor. Mr. Craig touched briefly on New Zealand, where the natives he said were more clean than any of the others he had seen; gave a description of the country and people of Australia and showed sketches he made there principally of the beaches; and showed sketches of the natives of New Guinea, and spoke a little of the Hidden Valley there.

The birds, he said, are most unusual in coloring; the butterflies are gorgeous and enormous and there are great quantities of them, some having a wing spread of ten and three-quarter inches. In the Philippines the soldiers more or less took to the children, whom he described as rather cute. Again he illustrated with some of his sketches.

Girl Scout Troop 9, Brownies 39, Hold Annual Breakfast

Girl Scout Troop 9 and Brownie Pack No. 36 attended SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church in a group Sunday, for their annual communion mass, which was celebrated by the Rev. Father Iraneus, O.F.M. Cap., pastor, who addressed them on scouting and urged them to live up to the scout laws.

They then had breakfast in the school cafeteria. Their guests included the Rev. Father Mark, O.F.M. Cap., four Senior Scouts of Troop 12 and former members of Troop 9, Vivian Nies, Mary Puderbaugh, Doris Ann Chaney and Ann Cline, who served as color guard.

Mrs. F. A. Puderbaugh was chairman of the committee in charge of the breakfast. She was assisted by Mrs. George Cline, Mrs. John Stump, Mrs. Paul Shomo, Mrs. William C. Walsh and Mrs. Walter Chaney.

Brownie Troop 36 is under the leadership of Mrs. A. M. Spioch, while Miss Mary Schmutz and Mrs. Charles E. Brode are the leaders for Troop 9.

The bride was attired in a dark blue costume, with which she wore red accessories and a corsage of roses. Her attendant wore a light print dress and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Annabelle Lange entertained with a wedding reception in honor of her mother, at her home, 438 Wainut street, following the ceremony. She was assisted in serving by her sisters, Mrs. Blanche Tipton, Hyndman; Mrs. Charles Thomas and Mrs. Nell Winamood, city.

Miss LeClear, daughter of Mrs. Thomas LeClear, Braddock road and the late Mr. LeClear, will become the bride of Delphin E. Trieber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E Trieber, 216 Schley street, Saturday.

The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations of the luncheon table, where an all white color scheme was carried out in white peonies and candleabra of tall white tapers. Covers were laid for sixteen guests. Gifts were presented to each of the honor guests.

B and P Women To Be Hosts For Regional Meeting

Symbols of Club Emblem Are Explained by Miss Gerardine Pritchard

The Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club will invite the clubs from the area to a regional meeting here October 12; Miss Theresa Nicht was named state parliamentarian; and Miss Orpha Benita Pritchard was named representative to the OPA to replace Miss Louise Cornell, resigned.

Plans were also formulated at the dinner-meeting last evening at Central YMCA for the next meeting to be held in the form of a picnic on June 11 at Constitution park, with Mrs. Flora Blackwell, Recreation chairman, in charge. Five overseas boxes for Business and Professional Women in war torn countries were packed last evening under the chairmanship of Dr. Elizabeth Barabash, assisted by Miss Nan Livingston. Miss Anna Nicht presided and reported on the state convention held in Hagerstown, earlier this month.

The feature of the program was a review of the "Storm," by George Stewart, given by Miss Mary G. Walsh, who explained that in the book the storms are the heroines and are shown to bring death and destruction as well as relief from heat and draught. The story is told by a junior meteorologist in San Francisco, who gives the storms women's names on his map. Myra, the most popular one lasts twelve days.

Miss Lillian Compton was in charge of the program which consisted of three features; "Thumb Nail Facts of the Federation of B and P Women's Clubs," given by Miss Anne Tennant; an explanation of the club emblem, by Miss Gerardine Pritchard and violin selections by Miss Datha Thomas, with Mrs. Lillian S. Stewart at the piano.

The five symbols of the emblem were briefly explained by Miss Pritchard as follows, the Torch, representing wisdom and leadership, stressed in the educational program of the organization; the Wand representing co-ordination and co-operation with all mankind; the Ship, the entrance of women into the business world, representing contact of women of other countries by international relations program; the Scroll when in 1919 the organization began to unroll for business and professional women and their activities and efforts were recorded, as represented in the public and legislative affairs; and the Winged Victory, the dominant figure which represents the club as courageously victorious. She explained that the initials for the national Federation of Business and Professional Women encircle the edge of the emblem and the golden circle represents the wholeness or unity of the club.

Miss Thomas played Londonderry Air, Hungarian Dance No. 6, Brahms; Ciri biri bin, and Auld Lang Saing, after which the entire group sang the song. Twenty-eight members and one guest, Miss Mary Wickard attended.

—The maid of honor is usually custodian of the groom's ring in a double wedding ceremony.

Delta Theta Chi Plans Picnic; Names Committee

James B. Craig Illustrates Talk of SWP Islands with His Sketches

Maryland Alpha Chapter of Delta Theta Chi sorority formulated plans for a picnic and Mrs. Helen Burke appointed the nominating committee at the business meeting Monday evening at Central YMCA. James B. Craig, News reporter and veteran of three years' duty in the Southwest Pacific, was the guest speaker.

Miss Rose McMahon, Mrs. Margaret Clancey, Mrs. Catherine Beall and Mrs. Emma Crawford will be hostesses for the picnic, which will be held in Constitution park, June 24, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Miss Mary Apple was named chairman of the nominating committee which also includes Miss Ruth Miller and Miss Jeanette Bonig. The election of officers will be held at the meeting June 10 at the Y.

Mr. Craig discussed his various stations in the Pacific and illustrated with some of the sketches he had drawn while there. Beginning with his trip from New York and through the Panama Canal he briefly described the various islands dwelling mostly about the people.

Bora Bora which he said was about ninety miles from Tahiti and similar to it, was his favorite, he said. The climate is ideal and its women are quite beautiful. He also described its volcanic harbor. Mr. Craig touched briefly on New Zealand, where the natives he said were more clean than any of the others he had seen; gave a description of the country and people of Australia and showed sketches he made there principally of the beaches; and showed sketches of the natives of New Guinea, and spoke a little of the Hidden Valley there.

The birds, he said, are most unusual in coloring; the butterflies are gorgeous and enormous and there are great quantities of them, some having a wing spread of ten and three-quarter inches. In the Philippines the soldiers more or less took to the children, whom he described as rather cute. Again he illustrated with some of his sketches.

Girl Scout Troop 9, Brownies 39, Hold Annual Breakfast

Girl Scout Troop 9 and Brownie Pack No. 36 attended SS. Peter and Paul Catholic church in a group Sunday, for their annual communion mass, which was celebrated by the Rev. Father Iraneus, O.F.M. Cap., pastor, who addressed them on scouting and urged them to live up to the scout laws.

They then had breakfast in the school cafeteria. Their guests included the Rev. Father Mark, O.F.M. Cap., four Senior Scouts of Troop 12 and former members of Troop 9, Vivian Nies, Mary Puderbaugh, Doris Ann Chaney and Ann Cline, who served as color guard.

Mrs. F. A. Puderbaugh was chairman of the committee in charge of the breakfast. She was assisted by Mrs. George Cline, Mrs. John Stump, Mrs. Paul Shomo, Mrs. William C. Walsh and Mrs. Walter Chaney.

Brownie Troop 36 is under the leadership of Mrs. A. M. Spioch, while Miss Mary Schmutz and Mrs. Charles E. Brode are the leaders for Troop 9.

Henry Ruppert Weds Mrs. Manuel

Mrs. Charlotte Manuel, 221 Fulton street, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Cline, became the bride of Henry Ruppert, 410 Central avenue, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ruppert, last evening.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic church rectory, with the Rev. Joyce Russell officiating, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lindner as the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ruppert, Miss Angela Ruppert and Frederick Ruppert, Jr., also were present.

Mrs. Annabelle Lange entertained with a wedding reception in honor of her mother, at her home, 438 Walnut street, following the ceremony. She was assisted in serving by her sisters, Mrs. Blanche Tipton, Hyndman; Mrs. Charles Thomas and Mrs. Neil Winamood, city.

Mr. Ruppert is an employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, with which he has been associated for the past forty-three years. He and his bride will reside at 410 Central avenue.

Doctor Discusses Types, Treatment Of Conjunctivitis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

At one time or another nearly everybody has suffered from red inflamed eyes and certainly there are few disorders that a doctor sees more frequently.

This inflammation of the lining membrane of the lids and the eyeball is known as conjunctivitis. It may be caused by any one of a number of infections, hence successful treatment will depend on first discovering what particular "bug" is causing the trouble.

Eye Smear

For this reason Dr. William M. Bane, Denver, believes that it is important in every case of conjunctivitis to take a smear from the eye in order to determine what germs are giving rise to the inflammation. It is not possible in every case to discover the trouble-making organism, but the fact that it can be readily identified in so many, makes this procedure worthwhile.

For instance, the most frequent type of conjunctivitis is due to the pneumococcus bacteria, which is stopped dead in its tracks by a solution of quinine hydrochloride and certain other anticeptics.

On the other hand, conjunctivitis due to what is known as the Morax-Axenfeld bacillus clears up readily when treated with a zinc sulfate solution. Thus, if a smear is taken and the doctors learn right at the start what is causing the infection, there will be nothing hit-or-miss about the treatment. Loss of time, discomfort and possible permanent damage to the eye will be avoided.

Severe Type

A severe type of conjunctivitis may be due to the gonacoccus. Dr Bane suggests in treating this condition that sulfadiazine be given by mouth until the condition clears up. The doctor may even decide to wash the eye itself with a solution of sulfanilamide several times a day for one or two days.

Another type of conjunctivitis known as keratoconjunctivitis occurs in epidemics. This type causes a scratchy sensation in the eyes with redness and swelling of the lids. The condition lasts for several weeks up to several months. In most cases it clears up without causing any permanent damage to the eye.

Up to the present time, no definite treatment for this disorder has been found which appears to be of much value. It is thought that keratoconjunctivitis is due to a virus, that is, an organism so small that it will pass through the openings in a porcelain filter.

Lining Membrane

Inflammation of the lining membrane over the eyeball may be produced because some bit of material gets into the eye. At times the bit of dust or dirt may be so small that it is difficult to see it.

For this reason when it is suspected that dirt is in the eye, the physician may examine it with a magnifying glass. Once the material is found, the eye is anesthetized, if necessary, and the material carefully removed. After removal, according to Da. Bane, sulfathiazole ointment should be put into the eye and then the eye bandaged and kept closed for a day or two.

While most of these eye conditions are not serious, they must be properly treated so as to avoid any permanent damage to the eye.

GILBERT MCKENZIE IS ACQUITTED

Gilbert McKenzie, Frostburg, accused by the State's Attorney's office of setting fire to a building at 98 Main street, Frostburg, was acquitted in trial magistrates court here yesterday, when Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., said "evidence was too circumstantial."

McKenzie was arrested by Frostburg police and interrogated by State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris and County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, after it was learned he had quarreled with Mrs. Florence Evelyn Race Williams, his intended bride, who lived in the Stern building at this address.

Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher prosecuted the case, and McKenzie did not testify in his own defense.

According to testimony, McKenzie and Mrs. Williams, who lives in the building, had an argument in the latter's home Saturday night and the defendant eventually left in an "angry mood." Following the blaze early Sunday morning, he was found by police "passed out" in the vicinity.

Mrs. Williams testified McKenzie had had only two bottles of beer while in her company.

Officers Walter Eichhorn and Ronald Kreider, of the Frostburg police force, told Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., that McKenzie approached them between 1:30 and 2 a. m. and said he was supposed to get married but his bride "didn't show up." They rode McKenzie home after advising him to settle the affair later.

Missing Boy Found

Melvin Baker, 8-year-old son of Mrs. Julia P. Baker, 203 Massachusetts avenue, reported missing from his home since early Monday evening, has been located, police reported yesterday. Police were told the child emerged from under a neighbor's porch after the rain stopped yesterday morning.

Firemen Are Called When Roast Burns

Central Fire Company No. 1 was called to the Golden Gate tea room, 17 South Centre street, yesterday afternoon at 3:50 o'clock when, fire fighters said, a big roast burned to a crisp in an oven at the restaurant.

Firemen said the oven was damagedslightly by the fire which resulted when the oven caught fire.

Firemen reported the fire truck was held up on North Liberty street for a while. They said the truck was unable to drive past a car which a woman had parked about three feet from the curb, adding that the driver of the car became excited and was unable to move the vehicle.

The truck was enabled to proceed through the quick thinking of two motorists who, realizing the predicament of the fire truck, drove out ahead of the truck and enabled the firemen to swing the truck around the parked vehicle.

Central Fire Company answered a false call at 12:16 p. m. yesterday at 618 Virginia avenue, where smoke from a stove in an upstairs apartment seeped into another room and alarmed occupants of the building.

At 12:05 p. m., South End firemen answered a false alarm from Box 64 at Pennsylvania avenue and Second street.

ANNAPOLIS, May 28. (AP)—Dorothy A. Hargrove, 21, a greeneyed, blonde university of Maryland coed, will have the honor of presenting the colors to the top noteh Naval Academy company of Midshipmen this year.

She was chosen "color girl" by her midshipman fiance James B. Wilson, 21, commander of the twenty-fourth company, which won the annual distinction of carrying the brigade flag during the coming year in one of the closest competitions in academy history.

Miss Hargrove, who is five feet eight and weighs 121 pounds, will deliver the colors to the victorious company at the final parade of midshipmen during the annual June week ceremonies beginning Saturday.

Bandits Raid Pole's Home; Kill Children

CRACOW, Poland—(AP)—Bandits, supposedly members of the outlawed NSZ—national armed forces—attacked the home in nearby Ladygowice of Valentine Kufel of the Polish Socialist Party.

They poured machinegun fire into his house and killed his three children. But they didn't get their man—Kufel was not at home.

—Ancient Greeks established the capital of Athens five miles inland as protection against the pirate-infested sea.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Insurance Payments To Maryland Families Total $6,467,000

NEW YORK, May 28—(AP)—Maryland families received $6,467,000 in life insurance death benefit payments under 9,203 policies during the first three months of this year, compared with $5,919,000 under 9,421 policies in the corresponding period of last year, the institute of life insurance reported today.

"These payments reflect the clearing up of war death claims except for those involving service men missing in action," the institute said in announcing the figures.

"In spite of this, however, payments in this state were greater than those of the same period of 1945, due in part to the greater amount of life insurance owned and in part, to an increase in civilian death rates during the first few weeks of this year. The first quarter payments in this state were 25.7 per cent greater than in the first quarter of prewar 1941, when they totaled $5,144,000."

Of the aggregate payments in this state, $4,453,000 was under 1,586 ordinary policies; $552,000 was under 329 group life insurance certificates; and $1,462,000 was under 7,288 industrial insurance policies.

Hensen testified he had a lapse of memory immediately preceding the crash.

Stocks Hit Fifteen Year Peak In Broadest Market on Record

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Stocks hit another fifteen-year average peak today in the broadest market on record as buyers appeared with sufficiently urgent bids to life leading industrials, rails and utilities fractions to more than three points on the largest volume since late February.

Hopes that the soft coal controversy would be settled within a matter of hours was the principal purchasing incentive. Belief that other labor rifts could quickly be adjusted also buoyed sentiment. Earnings, dividends, actual and potential slipups, and persistence of inflation psychology dropped bullish sentiment.

There were 1,077 individual issues that registered in the session. These compared with the previous record of 1,061 of last November 7. Of the day's total, 701 rose and 235 fell. Transfers of 2,220,000 shares were the largest since Feb. 26.

Among favorites, Canada Dry Common was up 3¼ at $58.50 and the preferred 8½ at $146 in the wake of a stock split proposal.

An extra dividend pushed up National Lead ⅝ at $39.87. Montgomery Ward added 2⅝ at $103.25 on a pleasing earnings summary. Santa Fe Jumped 4¾ to 118.75 and Goodrich 3¼ at $81.25. Commonwealth and Southern, again the most active on 105,500 shares, was up ¼ at $5.50.

Promient on the swing were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, North American, Electric Power and Light, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio (on a regular dividend which aided other rails), General Electric, Eastman Kodak and International Nickel.

Better curb performers were Noma Electric, American Gas, United Light, Securities Corporation and Automatic products. Turnover here was 1,030,000 shares versus 760,000 yesterday.

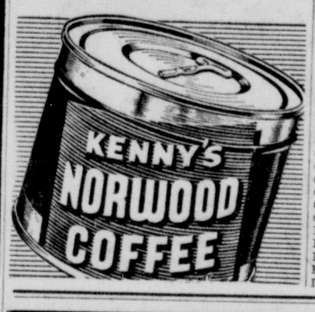

A broad list of railroad obligations were in demand in today's bond market at advances ranging to nearly two points.

Total sales of $5,020,000 made it the most active session since May 2 and compared with $3,590,000 Monday.

United States Governments were quiet. On the exchange the 2½s of Dec '72-'67 advance 1-16 to 103½.

Dreams of home . . . of a new car, maybe . . . of a snappy civilian suit . . . and other things. Some STILL hard to get. But he wished for wonderful "little" things too . . . like home-made chocolate cake—ice cream sodas—and real, honest-to-gosh COFFEE—like THIS! Get it for him now!

Stocks Hit Fifteen Year Peak In Broadest Market on Record

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Stocks hit another fifteen-year average peak today in the broadest market on record as buyers appeared with sufficiently urgent bids to life leading industrials, rails and utilities fractions to more than three points on the largest volume since late February.

Hopes that the soft coal controversy would be settled within a matter of hours was the principal purchasing incentive. Belief that other labor rifts could quickly be adjusted also buoyed sentiment. Earnings, dividends, actual and potential slipups, and persistence of inflation psychology dropped bullish sentiment.

There were 1,077 individual issues that registered in the session. These compared with the previous record of 1,061 o last November 7. Of the day's total, 701 rose and 235 fell. Transfers of 2,220,000 shares were the largest since Feb. 26.

Among favorites, Canada Dry Common was up 3¼ at $58.50 and the preferred 8½ at $146 in the wake of a stock split proposal.

An extra dividend pushed up National Lead ⅝ at $39.87. Montgomery Ward added 2¾ at $103.25 on a pleasing earnings summary. Santa Fe Jumped 4¾ to 118.75 and Goodrich 3¼ at $81.25. Commonwealth and Southern, again the most active on 105,500 shares, was up ¼ at $5.50.

Promient on the swing were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, North American, Electric Power and Light, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio (on a regular dividend which aided other rails), General Electric, Eastman Kodak and International Nickel.

Better curb performers were Noma Electric, American Gas, United Light, Securities Corporation and Automatic products. Turnover here was 1,030,000 shares versus 760,000 yesterday.

A broad list of railroad obligations were in demand in today's bond market at advances ranging to nearly two points.

Total sales of $5,020,000 made it the most active session since May 2 and compared with $3,590,000 Monday.

United States Governments were quiet. On the exchange the 2½s of Dec '72-'67 advance 1-16 to 103½.

Prof. Einstein Will Answer Question Tonight on Radio

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein is scheduled for a special broadcast on ABC Wednesday night. So is Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian representative to UN.

Dr. Einstein will speak from his home at Princeton, N. J., at 9:30 p. m. to the Students for Federal World Government Organization assembled at Chicago. They have asked him for an answer to the question "Is not human nature an invincible obstacle to reaching permanent peace?"

Right afterward at 9:45 Mr. Gromyko is to be heard as he addresses a rally of the national council of American Soviet Friendship in New York.

Race previews of both the horse and the automobile are on the agenda. The horse deals with the Belmont stakes to be run June 1 at Belmont Park, N. Y., with Ted Husing and Jimmy Dolan looking things over via CBS at 3:30.

The auto event is the Indianapolis speedway, set for its first running on Memorial day since postwar days. The preview will be on MBS at 9:45, to include an interview with Wilbur Shaw.

"Mr. District Attorney" turns next to "The Case of Murder at Eight Bells" for NBC at 8:30. Of course the crime will be solved—for you should know by now that a radio detective never fails.

"Great Moments in Music" of CBS at 9 will offer excerpts from Bizet's opera "Carmen." This program soon will be going off the air, so removed by the sponsor, after four and a half years.

Blandford Asks Farmers To Cull Their Flocks

COLLEGE PARK, May 28. (AP)—State Production and Marketing Director Joseph H. Blandford said today that fifteen pounds of grain—enough to feed three or four non-producing hens for a month—would provide enough flour and bread for a starving person for a month.

He called on farmers to co-operate in "immediate culling of poultry flocks to conserve grain, both for helping to prevent starvation abroad, and to assure feed for growing chicks."

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS IN STATE TOOK 25 LIVES IN APRIL

BALTIMORE, May 28 (AP) — Traffic accidents in Maryland during April cost the lives of twenty-five persons and resulted in injury to 645, the state traffic safety commission disclosed today.

Police investigated 1,262 traffic accidents during the month, the commission said. Of the total, 776 accidents causing deaths of five and injury to 372, occurred in Baltimore City, while 486 accidents in the rest of the state resulted in twenty deaths and injury to 273 persons.

The commission's report indicated some improvement over the record for April, 1945. The number of fatalities in Baltimore last month was half the number in April, 1945, and the decline elsewhere was seventeen percent, the commission said.

Eleven of the twenty-five persons fatally injured in the state were pedestrians, a fact which led the commission to issue again the advice:

"Always walk facing traffic."

Fourteen Maryland counties had records of no traffic fatalities in April. These were listed by the commission as Allegany, Calvert, Caroline, Dorchester, Frederick, Garrett, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, Queen Anne's Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester.

Dr. Adolph Freedom Dies in Baltimore

BALTIMORE, May 28 (AP) — Dr. Adolph G. Freedom, who began practicing medicine in Baltimore in 1898 and maintained an extensive practice until he became ill several months ago, died yesterday at his Baltimore home.

He represented the sixth generation of physicians and teachers in his family. His father was a doctor and his grandfather was professor of philosophy at the University of Basle, Switzerland.

Dr. Freedom was a graduate of the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy and the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Bertha Freedom Sinclair, and a son, Dr. Leon Freedom, associate professor of Neurology at the University of Maryland.

—During the war the army Ordnance department spent $125,000,000 on basic research and long-range development programs.

Prof. Einstein Will Answer Question Tonight on Radio

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein is scheduled for a special broadcast on ABC Wednesday night. So is Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian representative to UN.

Dr. Einstein will speak from his home at Princeton, N. J., at 9:30 p. m. to the Students for Federal World Government Organization assembled at Chicago. They have asked him for an answer to the question "Is not human nature an invincible obstacle to reaching permanent peace?"

Right afterward at 9:45 Mr. Gromyko is to be heard as he addresses a rally of the national council of American Soviet Friendship in New York.

Race previews of both the horse and the automobile are on the agenda. The horse deals with the Belmont stakes to be run June 1 at Belmont Park, N. Y., with Ted Husing and Jimmy Dolan looking things over via CBS at 3:30.

The auto event is the Indianapolis speedway, set for its first running on Memorial day since postwar days. The preview will be on MBS at 9:45, to include an interview with Wilbur Shaw.

"Mr. District Attorney" turns next to "The Case of Murder at Eight Bells" for NBC at 8:30. Of course the crime will be solved—for you should know by now that a radio detective never fails.

"Great Moments in Music" of CBS at 9 will offer excerpts from Bizet's opera "Carmen." This program soon will be going off the air, so removed by the sponsor, after four and a half years.

Blandford Asks Farmers To Cull Their Flocks

COLLEGE PARK, May 28. (AP)—State Production and Marketing Director Joseph H. Blandford said today that fifteen pounds of grain—enough to feed three or four non-producing hens for a month—would provide enough flour and bread for a starving person for a month.

He called on farmers to co-operate in "immediate culling of poultry flocks to conserve grain, both for helping to prevent starvation abroad, and to assure feed for growing chicks."

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS IN STATE TOOK 25 LIVES IN APRIL

BALTIMORE, May 28 (AP) — Traffic accidents in Maryland during April cost the lives of twenty-five persons and resulted in injury to 645, the state traffic safety commission disclosed today.

Police investigated 1,262 traffic accidents during the month, the commission said. Of the total, 776 accidents causing deaths of five and injury to 372, occurred in Baltimore City, while 486 accidents in the rest of the state resulted in twenty deaths and injury to 273 persons.

The commission's report indicated some improvement over the record for April, 1945. The number of fatalities in Baltimore last month was half the number in April, 1945, and the decline elsewhere was seventeen percent, the commission said.

Eleven of the twenty-five persons fatally injured in the state were pedestrians, a fact which led the commission to issue again the advice:

Fourteen Maryland counties had records of no traffic fatalities in April. These were listed by the commission as Allegany, Calvert, Caroline, Dorchester, Frederick, Garrett, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, Queen Anne's Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester.

WAITING FOR THE BIG CHANCE

Every dog has his day, they say. To everyone, soon or late, comes the "big chance." Some day the employment agency you contacted so long ago will unexpectedly call up and offer you that splendid job, the job made to order for you, which will lead you straight up the ladder to spectacular success. Some day the "right" person will come along, the girl or man you've dreamed about, the perfect mate who will bring joy and contentment to you the rest of your days.

With what childish confidence we place our faith in such dreams. Secretly, of course. We don't talk about it but we know in our innermost heart it will surely happen.

So many of us sitting around, looking at our demoralized world, waiting for the "right job," the "right person," the big chance. So many of us growing old, saying these things to ourselves, thinking that if we wait long enough, our chance will come to be fabulously rich, supremely happy, gloriously famous.

But it won't! For there are no "right" jobs or chances or people, all ready made and waiting for you to reach out and grab. There are only the scant makings . . . and the rest is up to us.

Your neighbor who seems so happy and contented with his job and his home didn't get that way just through some lucky break. Chances are he started on a shoestring—or less—and used his own spunk and shrewdness to build his own private world from nothing. He didn't find a job which "just fitted" him. He fitted himself to the job which he found, or he made his own job and made a go of it.

I know a young man who started in life with nothing but the conviction that what he got he'd have to earn. He had a fair general education but when it came time for him to make his own way he had no special training, he knew no trade, he had no connections. He might have borrowed money to keep him going "until the right thing came along." But he had no idea what the right thing was, and furthermore he had an aversion to borrowing money.

He took a janitor's job in a hotel. He didn't like the work, of course, and he knew he could do better. But what? He had to learn how to do something which would give him a chance at something better. He went to night school and learned shorthand and typing, which he thought would give him an entre into the business world. His first job paid him $100 per month. Hard work and conscientious effort increased that to $150 within a few months. Then he was offered the job of secretary to the president of the concern.

Here he learned enough about the business to qualify as manager of one of the departments. He was doing pretty well, but he wasn't satisfied. He made use of every opportunity to learn, not only about his own job but everything that came his way.

A few years later the company was reorganized. The new setup was not to his liking and he resigned. But by this time he was ready and able to go into business for himself. Today he's one of the west coast's big operators, successful and growing more so every minute.

What would have happened to this young man if he had waited for the right job to come along? Would someone have handed him the presidency of a business at $30,000 per year? Don't be ridiculous.

Washington Boy Cops Top Honors in Rifle Tourney

Arthur E. Cook, 16, Wins Title at Frostburg; Ernest Rifle Club Annexes Times-News Purse

FROSTBURG, May 28—Arthur E. Cook, 16-year-old representative of the Pin Wheel Rifle Club of Washington, D. C., captured high individual honors in the NRA sanctioned Western Maryland Rifle championship tournament held Sunday under the auspices of the Frostburg Rifle and Pistol Club, Inc., at the latter's range on the Hoffman road.

The Washington lad's aggregate score for a combination of three matches, the second, third and fourth on the program, was 797-59x out of a possible 800-80x.

Charles E. Whipple, of Pittsburgh, took runner-up honors in the match, the sixth and final on the card, by turning in a score of 797-46x. By finishing in third place Miss Adelaide McCord, of Sewickley, Pa., won the Western Maryland women's championship, with a score of 795-52x.

Cook won the Cornish trophy, donated by "Nick" Cornish, the Frostburg Young Men's Republican Club Purse and a gold medal. The runner-up received a silver medal and cash trophy and a camera, donated by the T. and S. Drug Store, of Frostburg.

427 Entries Listed

Four hundred and twenty-seven individual entries participated on the one-day shoot, which got under way at 8:30 a. m. and lasted until 7 p. m. Rain during the afternoon failed to interrupt the program, the biggest event if its kind ever staged in Western Maryland.

Team honors and the Cumberland Times and Alleganian Company Purse went to the Ernest Rifle Club, of Pittsburgh, which annexed the fifth event on the program by marking up a score of 1,-992-141-x out of a possible 2,000-200x. The winning team comprised P. McCord, Charles E. Whipple, Harvey Henshaw, C. F. Sterbutzel and L. G. McCord.

The victorious team received $25 in cash, donated by the Cumberland newspapers, with $5 going to each individual, in addition to one medal to the high man and gold medals to each member.

Duplicate Awards Given

Duplicate awards were necessary in the first match, the Simeon W. Green Purse, when Wallace Berchtold, of York, Pa., tied Elzie Courtwright, of Washington, Pa., for first place, each having turned in perfect scores of 200-15x. This match comprised twenty shots at 100 yards.

Marion L. Eastep, of Pittsburgh, took top honors in the Jeffries Brothers Jewelers Purse, 20 shots at 50 yards, with a score of 200-16-x.

The Frostburg Rotary Club Purse, 20 shots at 100 yards, was won by Arthur E. Cook, whose score was 200-15x.

Miss Adelaide McCord, of Sewickley, Pa., won the fourth event, the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association Purse, with a score of 398-31x.

Servo's Nose Operation Reported Successful

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Welterweight Champion Marty Servo underwent an operation today for atresia of the right nostril, and after the operation Dr. Louis Hochman, a New York surgeon, advised Servo's manager, Al Weill, that it had been "very successful."

Weill said he was counting on Servo being able to begin light training in about three weeks.

The titleholder suffered the injury when he was knocked out by Rocky Graziano in a non-title bout.

Trinity Wins, 28-5

Will Direct Racing

MIAMI, Fla., May 28. (AP)—James L. Clifford, of Baltimore, was appointed director of racing for Gulfstream track today. He also will serve as assistant to President James Donn, who was re-elected.

High School Games Are Set for Today If It Doesn't Rain

Wet grounds, caused by a steady morning downpour, caused postponement of the Allegany-Fort Hill contest at Campobello and the Hyndman-Beall tilt at Frostburg yesterday, but the teams will give it another try today at 4 o'clock—if it doesn't rain.

Jupiter Pluvius put in his appearance again last evening and the ground at Campobello is pretty well saturated, which means that it will take wind and sunshine to put the field in condition if the game is to be played today.

If another postponement is necessary the teams are expected to try again on Friday. The LaSalle-Beall game is already set for Friday at 4 p. m. at Community Park.

LaSalle's game with Kitzmiller, set for yesterday, also was washed out.

AHS Will Enter Six Relay Tests At College Park

Curry Plans To Take 15 Athletes; Fort Hill Will Send Eight

Winner in five out of six senior relays in last Friday's county meet, Allegany high school plans to enter teams in the six Class "A" events in the state high school relay carnival to be held under the auspices of the Health and Physical Education Association of Maryland Schools at the University of Maryland, College Park, on Saturday at 10 a. m.

Coach Foy Adams Curry last night announced that possibly fifteen AHS athletes will make the trip.

Curry said that Allegany's lineup for the six events, subject to change, will be as follows:

440 Yards Sprint Relay—(Each man runs 110 yards)—Wilbert Robertson, Allan Williams, Lindbergh Cook nd Robert Price.

Medley Relay No. 1—Price 110, Powers 110, Strock 220 and Bishop 440.

Medley Relay No. 3—Earl Bruce 110, Jim Bell 220, John Eckhart 440 and Bishop 880.

Herman Myers and James "Sonny" Lease also may get an opportunity to break into the events, Curry said.

Fort Hill, also in Class "A," expects to enter at least two events, according to Coach Mel Henry, who expects to take eight men to College Park. The Sentinels will likely enter Don Easton, Gary Moler, Jimmie Mangus and Jimmie Jones in the 880 yard sprint relay and Dick White, George Lapp, Larry McKenzie and Dick Clay in the mile relay. The former team won the 220 yards junior unlimited relay in last week's county meet.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegany County Board of Education, who is making arrangements for Allegany schools entering the College Park meet, announced last night that Central high school, Lonaconing, will not compete in the state relay carnival due to its poor showing in the county meet.

Bruce high, of Westernport, and Beall high, Frostburg, however, will enter relay teams in the Class "C" and "B" contests.

Church Is Elected To Succeed White

Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State School, Keyser, was elected secretary-treasurer at the spring meeting of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, and Dana (Horse) Lough, athletic director of the Keyser school, was named on the conference basketball committee which will meet with the northern and southern West Virginia boards of approved officials in December to work out any differences of officiating techniques between the two groups.

The committee which also includes C. H. (Jackie) McKown, Marshall and Rex Pyles, Alderson-Broaddus, will place the conferences views before the officials' organization.

C. B. (Cebe) Ross, West Virginia Wesleyan coach, reported that the state basketball tournament at Buckhannon produced a surplus of around $1,400 with the trophy bill of $200 yet to be paid.

Alderson-Broaddus, which lost only one game in season competition, was formally declared the 1945-46 conference baseball champion.

Dr. Paul N. Elbin, West Liberty president, was re-elected president of the conference and Dr. Leonard Riggleman, Morris Harvey president, was named vice president. There are 14 schools in the conference.

Dr. Church replaces Dr. W. H. S. White, president president of Shepherd College, retiring secretary-treasurer.

Rudi Caracciola Suffers Injuries At Indianapolis

Car of European Auto Racing Champ Hits Wall at Speedway

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28 (AP)—Rudi Caracciola, 50, of Berne, Switzerland, European auto racing champion, was injured when his car crashed into a wall as he was coming out of the southwest turn at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway late today.

Seth Klein, of Chicago, official starter, said Caracciola was alive when lifted from the track but the extent of his injuries were not determined immediately. He was rushed in an ambulance to Methodist hospital.

Physicians at the hospital said Caracciola was still unconscious when he arrived there. They said they could not tell immediately how seriously injured he was.

Although several wrecks have occurred this year Caracciola was the first to suffer injuries.

Driver Is Thrown Clear

Witnesses said Caracciola apparently came out of the turn too low and, while attempting to correct the error, the car skidded along the retaining rail and a wheel caught on a post. The front axle sheared off and the driver was thrown clear.

The car was owned by Joe Thorne, of Hollywood, Calif., who had planned to drive it until he was injured two months ago in a motorcycle accident.

Gigi Villoresi, of Milan, Italy, qualified for the starting field today in a new eight-cylinder Maserati at a speed of 121.249 miles an hour, considered good for a stranger to the brick and asphalt track.

Today was the last day to qualify.

Villoresi Qualifies

Villoresi, Italian auto racing champion in 1938 and 1939, won the Nice Grand Prix last April.

The fish-shaped, red and blue Fageol Twin Coach Special, newest of new ideas being tried out Thursday, was back in one piece again today after being rebuilt to add more zip coming out of the turns.

The Kent, Ohio, oddity was qualified by Paul Russo, of Kenosha, Wis., the first day of time trial, May 18, but developed supercharger trouble and mechanics tore it down to the chassis.

They made a complete job of it and put in new transmission gears in addition to a new "blower."

The car's present speed is a mystery. Russo averaged 126.183 miles an hour in the qualifications, and that time has been bettered only by Ralph Hepburn, of Van Nuys, Calif., who set a new record of 133.944 miles an hour; Cliff Bergere, of Indianapolis, who took the pole position on opening day at 126.471; and Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., in 128.861.

NIGHT BASEBALL

LEONARD TRIPS YANKS

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—They turned the lights on for the first time at the stadium tonight, but they shone only for the Washington Senators as the Yankees bowed to the knuckle-ball wizardry of Dutch Leonard, 2 to 1. Leonard checked the New Yorkers with six hits.

A crowd of 49,917 including 48,895 paid, sat shivering in the huge enclosure, drawn by the debut of the ultra-modern lighting system, and possibly in part by the home debut of Billy Dickey as Yankee manager. Score:

PITTSBURGH, May 28 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates combined a walk, a fielder's choice and four singles to produce four runs in the seventh inning, overcome the opposition lead and defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 6-3, before 16,995 fans tonight. Score:

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on famous heavyweight championship bouts.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

It was the 14th round and Bob Fitzsimmons, the English challenger for James J. Corbett's heavyweight boxing title, was having all the worst of it.

Suddenly, Fitzsimmons, "giving every indication he was going to pieces," delivered a lefthand punch below the heart of "Genleman Jim" and the champion, leaning backwards at the time, went down in agony.

The time was 12:52 in the afternoon. The date was March 17, 1897.

The heavy title bout had been arranged as a result of a challenge hurled by Fitzsimmons at a banquet he gave to sports writers in New York.

Fitzsimmons, born at Elston, Cornwall, England, of Irish parents on June 4, 1862, did his first fighting in New Zealand and then fought for seven years in Australia. He came to the U. S. in 1890.

Corbett, who had won the championship from John L. Sullivan, was the favorite in the 1897 fight, at 2 to 1.

The Arena, located a short distance from the main street in Carson City, was a 12-sided affair with four sections of 1,500 seats each.

There were 5,000 at the fight, the first big crowd arriving at 9:30 in the morning. So great was the rush at the main gate that the early-birds had to hold their pasteboards over their heads as they rushed the entrance.

John L. Sullivan, ex-champ, entered the Arena at 10 a. m. to challenge the winner for $5,000.

Closest seats to the ring sold for $40 and the others were scaled accordingly.

The fight was delayed for more than an hour because there wasn't enough sun for the "verascope" picture which was to be taken.

Finally, at 12:10 the battle got underway. In the fifth round Corbett had Fitzsimmons on his knees. It looked like the end but Fitz fought back, finally winning in the 14th.

Corbett was counted out in the 14th after the hard blow under the heart. Coming to, he rushed at Fitz and beat him on the ropes. Separated he was taken to his corner and once again rushed Fitz, pleading for a return match.

After the fight, Fitz, then 36, collected his $15,000 purse and announced he would retire. He didn't however.

Six Tiger LaCrosse Players Will Appear In North-South Game

PRINCETON, N. J., May 28 (AP)—Six members of Princeton's high scoring lacrosse team have been picked to represent the north in the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association's annual North-South game at Baltimore June 7, it was announced today.

Tiger strickmen chosen are Captain Ernie Ransome of Riverton, N. J., and Hank Fish, of Erie, Pa., midfieldmen; Myrt Gaines of Ruxton, Md., high-point attackman; Frank Hoen of Glyndon, Md., and Carrol Jackson of Baltimore, defensemen; and Sam Ogden of Londonderry, Vt., goalie.

Beaten only by Maryland in an overtime game, the Orange and Black varsity won eight out of nine games and tallied 142 goals to their opponents' 39. This year's North-South contest will be the first since 1942, when the annual contest was suspended because of the war.

New York Yank's Suit Postponed until June 10

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Supreme court action on the suit of the New York Yankees permanently to restrain the Mexican league from allegedly seeking to lure away Yankee players today was postponed until June 10, and the hearing of the Yankees' motion to strike out the Mexican League defense that organized baseball contracts are monopolies was postponed until June 6.

Conn's Manager and Mike Jacobs Engage in Rhubarb over Tickets

Johnny Ray Is Ordered Out of Promoter's Office after Fuss

By SID FEDER

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J., May 28 (AP)—There is always an explosion of one sort or another going off in a Billy Conn training camp. Today's sizzler was a nice quiet brawl between Johnny Ray, Billy's manager, and Promoter Mike Jacobs, that could be heard, anyway, thirteen miles.

This one came off in New York this morning. Ray still had the fuse lit when he got back here in time for Billy's eight-round workout, in which the Pittsburgh pretty boy demonstrated in the best accepted manner that he's a lot closer to being in fighting shape right now than Joe Louis and that his speed and his viciousness when he's in there swatting are nothing to fool with without a flak vest.

The rhubarb between Johnny and Mike began peacefully enough, with Ray asking for some tickets within radar distance of the Yankee stadium ring for "Junior's" June 19 jamboree with Louis to fill the requests of some Pittsburgh pals. When it comes to asking Mike for tickets, it is well known that you might just as well suggest taking one of Mike's arms.

As a result, before it was over, Johnny had charged Jacobs with being "Louis's manager and protector," and the next step was for Mike to order Ray out of his offices and leave instructions to bar him whenever he makes an appearance in the future.

"If that's the way you want it, okay," Johnny informed Jacobs and anyone else within five blocks, "but when my Billy wins the heavyweight championship next month, you'll have to come to my office in Pittsburgh to see me. And when you do, I'll have two doormen on the door with orders to keep you out.

"You're Louis's manager and protector," Johnny went on for the entertainment of one and all, "and when he wants something, you see that he gets it. He's got a lot going for him, and we don't have anything going for us. Well, we'll take care of that June 19."

Last week Louis's sparmates splattered him with southpaw shoots as though they'd taken a lease on him. From the way the Pittsburgh pretty boy peppered Mickey McAvoy, Jimmy Smith, Erv Sarlin and Jim Neville with the off-side swats today, raising especial lumps on Smith and Neville, it appears Joe is going to have his catcher's mitt in better working order than it had been up to now.

Billy was down to about 183 pounds, within a couple of pounds of the weight he expects to be packing in the ring against Joe, and is getting that fine, drawn look of an ear-scrambled approaching his peak.

MacPhail Is Willing To Part with $100,000 For Effective Hurler

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Although the Yanks can boost only one .300 hitter today, it's pitching that concerns Larry MacPhail, and the New York chieftain is willing to lay $100,000 on the line to grab an effective hurler.

Right now Charley Keller, with a .303 mark, is the only consistent hitter on the club. But with time-proved clouters like Joe DiMaggio, Joe Gordon, Snuffy Stirnweiss, Nick Etten, Phil Rizzuto and Manager Bill Dickey around, MacPhail is confident that the Bombers' attack will be taken care of in due course.

The winning team comprised P. McCord, Charles E. Whipple, Harvey Henshaw, C. F. Sterbutzel and L. G. McCord.

Servo's Nose Operation Reported Successful

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Welterweight Champion Marty Servo underwent an operation today for atresia of the right nostril, and after the operation Dr. Louis Hochman, a New York surgeon, advised Servo's manager, Al Weill, that it had been "very successful."

Weill said he was counting on Servo being able to begin light training in about three weeks.

The titleholder suffered the injury when he was knocked out by Rocky Graziano in a non-title bout.

Trinity Wins, 28-5

MIAMI, Fla., May 28. (AP)—James L. Clifford, of Baltimore, was appointed director of racing for Gulfstream track today. He also will serve as assistant to President James Donn, who was re-elected.

High School Games Are Set for Today If It Doesn't Rain

Wet grounds, caused by a steady morning downpour, caused postponement of the Allegany-Fort Hill contest at Campobello and the Hyndman-Beall tilt at Frostburg yesterday, but the teams will give it another try today at 4 o'clock—if it doesn't rain.

Jupiter Pluvius put in his appearance again last evening and the ground at Campobello is pretty well saturated, which means that it will take wind and sunshine to put the field in condition if the game is to be played today.

If another postponement is necessary the teams are expected to try again on Friday. The LaSalle-Beall game is already set for Friday at 4 p. m. at Community Park.

LaSalle's game with Kitzmiller, set for yesterday, also was washed out.

AHS Will Enter Six Relay Tests At College Park

Curry Plans To Take 15 Athletes; Fort Hill Will Send Eight

Winner in five out of six senior relays in last Friday's county meet, Allegany high school plans to enter teams in the six Class "A" events in the state high school relay carnival to be held under the auspices of the Health and Physical Education Association of Maryland Schools at the University of Maryland, College Park, on Saturday at 10 a. m.

Coach Foy Adams Curry last night announced that possibly fifteen AHS athletes will make the trip.

Curry said that Allegany's lineup for the six events, subject to change, will be as follows:

Mile Relay—(Each man runs 440 yards)—Dick Clower, Stanley Bishop, Dan Kerr and Wilbert Robertson.

Medley Relay No. 1—Price 110, Powers 110, Strock 220 and Bishop 440.

Medley Relay No. 3—Earl Bruce 110, Jim Bell 220, John Eckhart 440 and Bishop 880.

Herman Myers and James "Sonny" Lease also may get an opportunity to break into the events, Curry said.

Fort Hill, also in Class "A," expects to enter at least two events, according to Coach Mel Henry, who expects to take eight men to College Park. The Sentinels will likely enter Don Easton, Gary Moler, Jimmie Mangus and Jimmie Jones in the 880 yard sprint relay and Dick White, George Lapp, Larry McKenzie and Dick Clay in the mile relay. The former team won the 220 yards junior unlimited relay in last week's county meet.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegany County Board of Education, who is making arrangements for Allegany schools entering the College Park meet, announced last night that Central high school, Lonaconing, will not compete in the state relay carnival due to its poor showing in the county meet.

Bruce high, of Westernport, and Beall high, Frostburg, however, will enter relay teams in the Class "C" and "B" contests.

Church Is Elected To Succeed White

Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State School, Keyser, was elected secretary-treasurer at the spring meeting of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, and Dana (Horse) Lough, athletic director of the Keyser school, was named on the conference basketball committee which will meet with the northern and southern West Virginia boards of approved officials in December to work out any differences of officiating techniques between the two groups.

The committee which also includes C. H. (Jackie) McKown, Marshall and Rex Pyles, Alderson-Broaddus, will place the conferences views before the officials' organization.

C. B. (Cebe) Ross, West Virginia Wesleyan coach, reported that the state basketball tournament at Buckhannon produced a surplus of around $1,400 with the trophy bill of $200 yet to be paid.

Dr. Paul N. Elbin, West Liberty president, was re-elected president of the conference and Dr. Leonard Riggleman, Morris Harvey president, was named vice president. There are 14 schools in the conference.

Dr. Church replaces Dr. W. H. S. White, president president of Shepherd College, retiring secretary-treasurer.

Rudi Caracciola Suffers Injuries At Indianapolis

Car of European Auto Racing Champ Hits Wall at Speedway

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28 (AP)—Rudi Caracciola, 50, of Berne, Switzerland, European auto racing champion, was injured when his car crashed into a wall as he was coming out of the southwest turn at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway late today.

Seth Klein, of Chicago, official starter, said Caracciola was alive when lifted from the track but the extent of his injuries were not determined immediately. He was rushed in an ambulance to Methodist hospital.

Physicians at the hospital said Caracciola was still unconscious when he arrived there. They said they could not tell immediately how seriously injured he was.

Although several wrecks have occurred this year Caracciola was the first to suffer injuries.

Driver Is Thrown Clear

Witnesses said Caracciola apparently came out of the turn too low and, while attempting to correct the error, the car skidded along the retaining rail and a wheel caught on a post. The front axle sheared off and the driver was thrown clear.

The car was owned by Joe Thorne, of Hollywood, Calif., who had planned to drive it until he was injured two months ago in a motorcycle accident.

Gigi Villoresi, of Milan, Italy, qualified for the starting field today in a new eight-cylinder Maserati at a speed of 121.249 miles an hour, considered good for a stranger to the brick and asphalt track.

Today was the last day to qualify.

Villoresi Qualifies

Villoresi, Italian auto racing champion in 1938 and 1939, won the Nice Grand Prix last April.

The fish-shaped, red and blue Fageol Twin Coach Special, newest of new ideas being tried out Thursday, was back in one piece again today after being rebuilt to add more zip coming out of the turns.

The Kent, Ohio, oddity was qualified by Paul Russo, of Kenosha, Wis., the first day of time trial, May 18, but developed supercharger trouble and mechanics tore it down to the chassis.

The car's present speed is a mystery. Russo averaged 126.183 miles an hour in the qualifications, and that time has been bettered only by Ralph Hepburn, of Van Nuys, Calif., who set a new record of 133.944 miles an hour; Cliff Bergere, of Indianapolis, who took the pole position on opening day at 126.471; and Rex Mays of Glendale, Calif., in 128.861.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on famous heavyweight championship bouts.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

It was the 14th round and Bob Fitzsimmons, the English challenger for James J. Corbett's heavyweight boxing title, was having all the worst of it.

Suddenly, Fitzsimmons, "giving every indication he was going to pieces," delivered a lefthand punch below the heart of "Genleman Jim" and the champion, leaning backwards at the time, went down in agony.

The time was 12:52 in the afternoon. The date was March 17, 1897.

The heavy title bout had been arranged as a result of a challenge hurled by Fitzsimmons at a banquet he gave to sports writers in New York.

Fitzsimmons, born at Elston, Cornwall, England, of Irish parents on June 4, 1862, did his first fighting in New Zealand and then fought for seven years in Australia. He came to the U. S. in 1890.

There were 5,000 at the fight, the first big crowd arriving at 9:30 in the morning. So great was the rush at the main gate that the early-birds had to hold their pasteboards over their heads as they rushed the entrance.

Finally, at 12:10 the battle got underway. In the fifth round Corbett had Fitzsimmons on his knees. It looked like the end but Fitz fought back, finally winning in the 14th.

Corbett was counted out in the 14th after the hard blow under the heart. Coming to, he rushed at Fitz and beat him on the ropes. Separated he was taken to his corner and once again rushed Fitz, pleading for a return match.

After the fight, Fitz, then 36, collected his $15,000 purse and announced he would retire. He didn't however.

Six Tiger LaCrosse Players Will Appear In North-South Game

PRINCETON, N. J., May 28 (AP)—Six members of Princeton's high scoring lacrosse team have been picked to represent the north in the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association's annual North-South game at Baltimore June 7, it was announced today.

Tiger strickmen chosen are Captain Ernie Ransome of Riverton, N. J., and Hank Fish, of Erie, Pa., midfieldmen; Myrt Gaines of Ruxton, Md., high-point attackman; Frank Hoen of Glyndon, Md., and Carrol Jackson of Baltimore, defensemen; and Sam Ogden of Londonderry, Vt., goalie.

Beaten only by Maryland in an overtime game, the Orange and Black varsity won eight out of nine games and tallied 142 goals to their opponents' 39. This year's North-South contest will be the first since 1942, when the annual contest was suspended because of the war.

Conn's Manager and Mike Jacobs Engage in Rhubarb over Tickets

Johnny Ray Is Ordered Out of Promoter's Office after Fuss

By SID FEDER

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J., May 28 (AP)—There is always an explosion of one sort or another going off in a Billy Conn training camp. Today's sizzler was a nice quiet brawl between Johnny Ray, Billy's manager, and Promoter Mike Jacobs, that could be heard, anyway, thirteen miles.

This one came off in New York this morning. Ray still had the fuse lit when he got back here in time for Billy's eight-round workout, in which the Pittsburgh pretty boy demonstrated in the best accepted manner that he's a lot closer to being in fighting shape right now than Joe Louis and that his speed and his viciousness when he's in there swatting are nothing to fool with without a flak vest.

The rhubarb between Johnny and Mike began peacefully enough, with Ray asking for some tickets within radar distance of the Yankee stadium ring for "Junior's" June 19 jamboree with Louis to fill the requests of some Pittsburgh pals. When it comes to asking Mike for tickets, it is well known that you might just as well suggest taking one of Mike's arms.

As a result, before it was over, Johnny had charged Jacobs with being "Louis's manager and protector," and the next step was for Mike to order Ray out of his offices and leave instructions to bar him whenever he makes an appearance in the future.

"If that's the way you want it, okay," Johnny informed Jacobs and anyone else within five blocks, "but when my Billy wins the heavyweight championship next month, you'll have to come to my office in Pittsburgh to see me. And when you do, I'll have two doormen on the door with orders to keep you out.

"You're Louis's manager and protector," Johnny went on for the entertainment of one and all, "and when he wants something, you see that he gets it. He's got a lot going for him, and we don't have anything going for us. Well, we'll take care of that June 19."

Last week Louis's sparmates splattered him with southpaw shoots as though they'd taken a lease on him. From the way the Pittsburgh pretty boy peppered Mickey McAvoy, Jimmy Smith, Erv Sarlin and Jim Neville with the off-side swats today, raising especial lumps on Smith and Neville, it appears Joe is going to have his catcher's mitt in better working order than it had been up to now.

Billy was down to about 183 pounds, within a couple of pounds of the weight he expects to be packing in the ring against Joe, and is getting that fine, drawn look of an ear-scrambled approaching his peak.

MacPhail Is Willing To Part with $100,000 For Effective Hurler

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—Although the Yanks can boost only one .300 hitter today, it's pitching that concerns Larry MacPhail, and the New York chieftain is willing to lay $100,000 on the line to grab an effective hurler.

Right now Charley Keller, with a .303 mark, is the only consistent hitter on the club. But with time-proved clouters like Joe DiMaggio, Joe Gordon, Snuffy Stirnweiss, Nick Etten, Phil Rizzuto and Manager Bill Dickey around, MacPhail is confident that the Bombers' attack will be taken care of in due course.

Legion and Delicatets Will Battle for Lead

St. Louis Cards Collect 12 Hits, Trim Cubs, 12-2

Game Is Highlighted by Sisler's Grand Slam Home Run

CHICAGO, May 28 —The St. Louis Cardinals collected fourteen hits off four Chicago Cubs' pitchers today to gain a 12 to 2 victory. Dick Sisler's grand slam home run highlighted an eight run fifth inning as St. Louis tied up the current series at a game apiece before a paid crowd of 15,801 persons.

Dick Sisler

With one out in the big fifth inning, Marty Marion singled. Ted Wilks, Johnny Beazley's reliefer, bunted and was safe when Claude Passeau's wild throw pulled Shortstop Bob Sturgeon, covering second, off the base and both runners were safe. Red Schoendienst walked to fill the bases. Terry Moore singled, scoring Marion and Wilks and Stan Musial also singled, Schoendienst scoring. Bob Chipman replaced Passeau. Chipman fielded Enos Slaughter's grounder, but threw it into center field trying for a force play at second.

Moore scored on this boot, Musial stopped at third and Slaughter at second before the Cubs recovered the ball. Whitey Kurowski was intentionally passed, filling the bases. Sisler emptied them with his first home run of the year, a drive into the right field bleachers. Box:

Court Asks Racing Commission To Issue License to Francis

BALTIMORE, May 28 (AP)—Judge Edwin T. Dickerson of Baltimore Superior Court directed the Maryland Racing Commission today to issue a temporary trainer's license to Anthony Francis, of Newton Square, Pa., who was suspended last month on a stimulation charge.

Overruling the commission's demurrers to mandamus proceedings brought by the trainer, Judge Dickerson gave the commission thirty days in which to answer the suit and ordered it to give Francis a license pending disposition of the case.

The commission announced April 30 that it had suspended Francis for one year on charges that he "carelessly permitted a drug to be administered" to the horse Goldie's Sugar, winner of the first race at Bowie April 4.

Boxers Lose Shirts

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—The United States boxers who meet the British champions at Wembley stadium tomorrow night already have lost their shirts literally—and British boxing writers believe they will do so again figuratively in the ring. The American lost the gym shirts which amateur boxers are required to wear in Britain en route here, and have had to borrow a set from an RAF team.

St. Louis Cards Collect 12 Hits, Trim Cubs, 12-2

Game Is Highlighted by Sisler's Grand Slam Home Run

CHICAGO, May 28 —The St. Louis Cardinals collected fourteen hits off four Chicago Cubs' pitchers today to gain a 12 to 2 victory. Dick Sisler's grand slam home run highlighted an eight run fifth inning as St. Louis tied up the current series at a game apiece before a paid crowd of 15,801 persons.

Dick Sisler

With one out in the big fifth inning, Marty Marion singled. Ted Wilks, Johnny Beazley's reliefer, bunted and was safe when Claude Passeau's wild throw pulled Shortstop Bob Sturgeon, covering second, off the base and both runners were safe. Red Schoendienst walked to fill the bases. Terry Moore singled, scoring Marion and Wilks and Stan Musial also singled, Schoendienst scoring. Bob Chipman replaced Passeau. Chipman fielded Enos Slaughter's grounder, but threw it into center field trying for a force play at second.

Moore scored on this boot, Musial stopped at third and Slaughter at second before the Cubs recovered the ball. Whitey Kurowski was intentionally passed, filling the bases. Sisler emptied them with his first home run of the year, a drive into the right field bleachers. Box:

Court Asks Racing Commission To Issue License to Francis

BALTIMORE, May 28 (AP)—Judge Edwin T. Dickerson of Baltimore Superior Court directed the Maryland Racing Commission today to issue a temporary trainer's license to Anthony Francis, of Newton Square, Pa., who was suspended last month on a stimulation charge.

Overruling the commission's demurrers to mandamus proceedings brought by the trainer, Judge Dickerson gave the commission thirty days in which to answer the suit and ordered it to give Francis a license pending disposition of the case.

The commission announced April 30 that it had suspended Francis for one year on charges that he "carelessly permitted a drug to be administered" to the horse Goldie's Sugar, winner of the first race at Bowie April 4.

202 Seniors Will Receive Diplomas In Garrett County

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, May 28—Two hundred two seniors of the five high schools of the county will be graduated in June, providing those named in the tentative lists complete their work between now and the end of the term, it was announced through F. E. Rathbun, county superintendent by the five principals.

This is an increase over the tentative figure of the previous year when 191 were listed but still twenty-four under two years ago when 226 were listed. Oakland High led the list with ninety-three, the same as last year, and almost half the entire number in the county. Grantsville has fifty-two listed.

JACK—In loving memory of my dear wife and our Mother, Mary Blair Jack, who died May 29, 1939.

If we had all the world to give,

Proposal Is Made To Erect Stadium As War Memorial

American Legion Names Chisholm Chairman of Investigating Committee

A committee was named by Commander Samuel A. Graham of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion at a regular meeting last night, to investigate the possibilities of obtaining the Community ball park, and some adjacent property, to be used for the erection of a large stadium as a war memorial.

Robert Chisholm made the proposal, expressing the view that the idea of a war memorial for Cumberland should be taken out of the talking stage and put in the action stage. Chisholm said he has driven and walked over all parts of the city, and there seems to be no other suitable place where there is sufficient ground.

He expressed the opinion that most people seem to agree on a stadium or large ball park, as the type of memorial structure Cumberland should have. He said he was aware that the Legion now leases the ground and that an effort was made to buy it at one time. He added, conditions change and perhaps the owners and controllers would now relinquish it for this purpose.

The proposal resulted in heated discussion with several members of World War I, explaining their experiences with this project and their failure to make any progress in procuring the property.

Committee Named

Wesley H. Abrams made a motion that a War Memorial committee be appointed to investigate Chisholm's proposal and that Chisholm be named chairman of the committee.

Graham appointed the following to investigate and make an effort to acquire the property: Robert Chisholm, chairman, Michael J. Brady, Wesley H. Abrams, John Sloan, Philip Fleming, Suter Kegg, John Kelly, Jr., F. Allan Weatherholt and John Neff.

It was suggested by Howard P. Loughrie, that the Sunday Times be asked to carry a veterans' page or section as is done by most metropolitan papers coming into the city. Loughrie said that all during the war, and even now, he has been curious to know why this policy wasn't established by the local Sunday paper, and believed it should be given some consideration.

Commander Graham explained he had contacted the editor of the Sunday paper about a year and a half ago on this same idea, but at that time it was explained that many features and departments in the paper had to be discontinued due to the shortage of newsprint. Graham said the Sunday Times had considered the idea, but had adopted a policy, so he was told, of introducing no new features or departments at the time.

Graham said he would again contact the papers to see if such a department could be set aside for veterans' news and information of value and interest to the veteran.

A request by J. Milton Dick, member of the House of Delegates, state of Maryland, to indorse an amendment to the State Unemployment Insurance act, was tabled for investigation.

Amendment Discussed

The amendment is designed to provide unemployment insurance payments on a weekly basis for women workers, now normally covered by insurance, who will voluntarily become unemployed and give up their jobs so a veteran can be hired.

The amendment comes before the legislative council June 6, and the next meeting of the Legion is June 11. The action denies Dick of the support of the Legion at the legislative council hearing in Baltimore, although several other groups have given it their indorsement in the interest of putting veterans in jobs. Dick said last night when informed of the local post's failure to lend the amendment its indorsement.

Reports were made on the progress of softball and baseball teams sponsored by the Legion. There was also some discussion on plans to improve the grandstand at Community park, and Commander Graham clarified the question by saying materials to do the necessary work are not available.

Kennedy Will Be Taken to Pittsburgh On Federal Charges

James Leonard Kennedy, 29, of Corriganville, arrested here a week ago on a charge of stealing an auto owned by Melvin C. Abe, of Ridgeley, W. Va., and taking it to Portage, Pa., will be taken to Pittsburgh, Pa., today, to face federal charges, Deputy United States Marshall Howard P. Loughrie said yesterday. Kennedy has been confined to the county jail here.

Arraigned before Judge William E. Baker, in United States District Court, Wheeling, W. Va., three defendants waived indictment by grand jury and pleaded guilty.

One of these, Franklin Haines, 19, pleaded guilty to a charge of transporting a stolen automobile from Virginia to Romney, W. Va., on May 1. He appeared before the court without counsel, and Judge Baker appointed Lester C. Hess as his representative.

Airline Plays Big Role In Saving Child's Life

A Morgantown, W. Va., airline played an important role in saving the life of a two-pound premature baby recently, the daughter of a former soldier and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Steyer, Gorman, Garrett county.

The child was reported recovering yesterday after the Globair airline rushed the child to Pittsburgh from Clarksburg in a twin engine Cessna in thirty-five minutes. In Pittsburgh, the child is having the benefit of a hospital especially equipped to take care of premature infants. The mother is recovering in a Philippi hospital.

Since this feast coincides with Memorial day, appropriate prayers will be offered at all three churches.

Celanese Reports Veterans Program To Legion Post

Company Had 5,025 in Service; 3,277 Re-employed and 210 Killed

A report concerning employes who have served in World War II, compiled by Edward R. Allan, superintendent of personnel of the Celanese Corporation of America, was submitted to Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, last night, and ordered included in the minutes.

The report shows that 5,025 Celanese employes have been inducted into the armed services. Of this number 3,277 have been given re-employment following discharge.

There are only thirty-one veterans not presently employed, but on furlough, the report shows. In these few cases, it is explained, other employment of a temporary nature has been offered, but the veterans prefer to remain on furlough until acceptable jobs are available.

A total of 210 Celanese employes made the supreme sacrifice or have been reported missing in action. To compensate for this number, 209 veterans, not previously employed by the company have been placed in jobs.

The report continues that it is interesting to note that 279 veterans of those returning have subsequently left Celanese employ. There are sixty-three receiving government assistance, having been certified for On-the-Job Training.

Thirty-one veterans have been granted leaves of absence desiring full-time attendance in credited schools, as provided under the Veterans' Assistance Program.

The company has also faced the problem of placement of disabled veterans, and the report makes this explanation:

"An analysis of the honorable discharges would indicate that 233 of all veterans who have returned were given disability discharges. Of this number, fifty-six were considered seriously handicapped and required special consideration. Many more, anxious to obtain their release from the armed services, neglected to report their disabilities, thereby denying themselves of medical care to which they are entitled. In all such cases the veteran has been counselled to report his case at once to the Veterans Administration."

"Thus far," the report concludes, "the Celanese has been able to find suitable placement for every disabled veteran who is desirous of working, no matter what his injury; and with the continuance of the co-operation of all, we shall bend every effort to maintain this one-hundred percent record.

Cement Company Wins Price Increase

The Cumberland Cement and Supply Company will be granted a two-cent price increase on the 1,000-pound test concrete block, the state OPA office in Baltimore announced yesterday.

Officials stated that the application for price relief has cleared the Baltimore office and is in Washington, where automatic approval will be given.

No formal action has been taken on the request of the Cement Products Company for price relief but figures are being assembled and if they show a justification, relief will be allowed, it was stated.

At a meeting with OPA officials here last Wednesday, Cement Products representatives stated the firm would stop making blocks June 1 unless ceiling prices were increased.

Cement blocks are one of the main items used in the construction of many small homes as the walls of some are entirely of block. The raising of ceilings would appear to indicate that this bottleneck in construction locally will soon be overcome as far as prices are concerned.

County Commissioners May Make Contribution To Westernport Library

A delegation of Westernport citizens who yesterday petitioned for a contribution of $50 for their library from the board of county commissioners yesterday were told that an effort will be made to "make some sort of contribution."

The delegation said that the library has been in operation for twenty-one years. The members of the group included Helen Engle, Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Naomi Fischer, L. Krantz, Nellie H. McCoy and Mayor Milton McIntyre.

Mayor McIntyre also requested that an investigation be made to limit the weight of trucks using a bridge spanning George's creek in Westernport. County Engineer John H. Carscaden was asked to check on the request.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall advised the board that the 155 mm. howitzer to be placed on the court house lawn as a memorial of World War II, has been shipped from the Army Ordnance depot, Anniston, Ala., according to a message from Maj. E. S. Hughes, chief of ordnance.

Green's Campaign For Re-election To Be Curtailed

Wife Is Admitted to a Baltimore Hospital for Operation

Simeon W. Green, chairman of the board of county commissioners who is running for re-election, admitted this week that his campaign activities will be sharply curtailed for the next few weeks due to injuries received by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Green, in an auto accident on May 16.

Green was in Baltimore yesterday where his wife was scheduled to have an operation and the commissioner said that in all likelihood he would spend the major portion of his time in that city the next couple of weeks.

Mrs. Green received serious injuries when the car in which she and her husband were riding hit another car head on at the top of Sideling Hill, Route 40, on May 16. State police reported that it was raining at the time of the accident and that there was considerable fog.

Undergoes Operation

Both Mr. and Mrs. Green were taken to Memorial hospital where Mrs. Green was admitted and Commissioner Green treated for shock and minor injuries. Last week Mrs. Green was removed to a Baltimore hospital where an operation was scheduled yesterday on her left leg. Mrs. Green suffered a splintered leg bone in the accident, near the hip, which physicians said called for a surgical operation and wiring.

Meanwhile, Nelson W. Russler, also a candidate for the Republican nomination for commissioner, said yesterday that he regretted that Mrs. Green had been injured and also the fact that it places Commissioner Green "at such a disadvantage as far as his campaign activities are concerned."

Russler Promises Aid

Russler said "And Green can rest assured that I for one, will not take advantage of the situation and will endeavor to help him all I can."

Green was at the court house Monday when he signed a number of county checks and took care of other county business but was not present at yesterday's board meeting. Court house attaches said yesterday that the commissioner was "shaken up" more than he will admit in the auto accident and said he was considerably worried about his wife.

Legion Will Appoint Nominating Committee

At the next meeting of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, June 11, a nominating committee will be appointed for the annual election of officers, and several Legion officials will be guests, Post Commander Samuel A. Graham announced.

The new Department of Maryland Commander Martin Iverson, of Baltimore, accompanied by Department Adjutant J. Nelson Tribey, will make his first official visit to the local post, and will also meet with officers here to discuss plans for the annual convention to be held here in August.

Commander Graham said Frank Powers, Frostburg, vice commander of the Mountain district and all post commanders within the district are expected to attend. Ray Berg, of Piedmont, W. Va., commander of the State Department of West Virginia is also expected to attend.

Veterans Are Invited To Appear in Parade

Capt. Thomas F. Conlon, chairman of the Memorial day program sponsored by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, last night extended an invitation to all veterans of all wars to participate in the parade and services tomorrow.

The parade will form at 10 a. m. at the Maryland State Armory, South Centre street, and will proceed to Rose Hill cemetery for a Memorial service. Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland will be the Memorial day speaker.

Signing 669 High School Diplomas Takes Kopp and Dashiell Two Hours

School Officials Work Out Assembly Line System for Big Job

Working at the rate of six diplomas per minute, it required approximately two hours yesterday for Superintendent Charles L. Kopp and Board President E. A. Dashiell to put their John Hancock's on 669 high school diplomas that will be awarded to as many Allegany county high school graduates in the next few days.

The signing of the diplomas, an annual event in Kopp's roomy office, is no haphazard affair. Efficiency is the keynote and the job is done with assembly line precision.

Overcomes Disadvantage

After signing his name, which has ten letters, to the diplomas he sort of shoves it with his elbow to Kopp. Kopp, whose full name has twelve letters, next signs it hurriedly, he having to keep at full speed to offset the advantage Dashiell has.

Kopp then feeds the finished product to Mrs. Anna Crosser Thwaites who carefully arranges the diplomas in neat rows on the floor. This is to insure that the signatures dry without blotting. She starts her first row over in the corner of the office near the electric light socket and then curves the rows about the room, leaving a small corridor to allow callers to come in and out. By the time she is through the floor is well-papered with all the gold seals on the diplomas displayed in perfect symmetry.

Machine Helps Out

In regarding the diplomas strewn about the floor of Kopp's office, one notes that the name of Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, has been affixed before hand. Inquiry reveals that Mr. Pullen does not actually affix his signature to each and every one of the thousands and thousands of diplomas that are awarded in Maryland every year. Mr. Pullen has a machine that does the work for him.

After the signing of the diplomas with what Kopp jocosely termed "eternal ink" and the drying, the documents are stacked for delivery to the various county high schools —188 to Allegany high this year, 166 to Fort Hill and so on—ready for the big event.

LaVale Wife Says Mate Won't Work

Mrs. Grace Leona Durr Conner, LaVale, yesterday filed suit in circuit court for a divorce from her husband, William Earl Conner, a former sailor, on the grounds that "he refused to work" and "disappeared" after drawing his unemployment compensation check.

The wife, represented by Urner G. Carl, said they were married in 1943 at Westernport and lived together until April of this year. She said Conner entered the navy in May, 1944, and was discharged last January.

Mrs. Conner asserted that she works at Celanese and has established a home but since her husband left the service "he has refused to work and was content to draw $80 monthly" in jobless compensation. She added that he received a $20 check on May 3 and then disappeared."

Mrs. Wilma E. Bucy Gadbois, 26, 402 Memorial avenue, has been granted an absolute divorce from Henry D. Gadbois, in a decree signed by Judge Huster. She was also given the custody of their son, aged four, and Gadbois was ordered to pay her $90 a month for the child's support. The wife, represented by William L. Wilson, Jr., said they were married in 1938 and lived together until March 4 this year.

New Construction Totals $24,875, Report Indicates

Building permits calling for $24,875 worth of new construction were granted at the city engineer's office during the past month, according to a report released yesterday.

Estimated construction costs for the twenty-four building permits issued last month totaled $41,510. Eight permits were for new construction and the remaining sixteen were for improvements or additions totaling $16,635.

Twenty applications for occupancy permits were made. Seventeen were granted by the city engineer, and the remainder were appealed to the board of zoning appeals. Two were granted by the board, and the third is pending. The board will hold its next meeting June 4.

F. R. Garland, representing the Cumberland Petroleum Company, secured an occupancy permit yesterday to use Lots 597, 598, 599, 600 and 601 on Robert street for a bulk gasoline and fuel oil storage plant, provided the city sells the five lots to the firm and grants the permit for a bulk storage plant.

The lots are located in an industrial zone. Steel storage tanks planned for storage facilities will be fourteen feet high.

No formal application to the mayor and city council for purchasing the lots has been made so far. The council has the final say in granting gasoline storage permits. Granting of the occupancy permit means that the lots are suitable for that purpose as far as zoning is concerned.

A permit was granted to Peter J. Decker, 917 Grand avenue, to enlarge and enclose a rear porch at his home for use as a bedroom. The new room will be 14 by 16 feet. Work, estimated to cost $400, will be done by DeSales Mattingly.

VFW Drum Corps Is Invited to Altoona

The drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has accepted an invitation from the American Legion post in Altoona, Pa., to take part in a Flag day parade there Friday, June 14, according to Grant Zollner, publicity chairman.

The corps will compete for a $250 prize to be awarded to the best marching unit in the parade, as well as for two $50 prizes to be awarded to the best drum major and majorettes.

Zollner said that the drum corps now has its first drum majorettes since its reorganization. They are the "Beckman twins," Mrs. Louise Jackel and Mrs. Loretta McGann, who formerly served as majorettes with the Fort Hill high school band. The drum major is Richard Hixson.

All members of the corps are requested to report to the post home tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. to march in the Memorial day parade.

It was announced that the next drum corps jamboree, an informal dance, will be held Friday, June 7, at the post home at 8 p. m. Music will be provided by a local orchestra.

Tomorrow will be observed here as a general holiday. Banks, offices, retail stores, courts, city, county, state and federal offices and other institutions will be closed all day.

The Cumberland post office will observe the usual holiday schedule in observance of Memoriti day. There will be no window service, and city and rural carriers will make no deliveries. Mail will be dispatched and distributed to lock boxes as usual.

Edwin H. Nelson Reported Missing On Pacific Flight

Intensive Search Is Started for C-54, Believed Down at Sea

Staff Sgt. Edwin H. "Ted" Nelson, radio operator on a C-54 army transport, has been reported missing since Sunday on a flight from Kwajalein to Guam, according to a telegram received Monday by his wife, Mrs. Ann Malloy Nelson, 328 Cumberland street, from W. C. Armstrong, commanding officer of the Fairfield-Suisun army base at Fairfield, Calif.

Maj. Ben Duvall, of the army transport command, said the plane was on a regular mail-freight run and that it gave three positions en route to Guam and then was silent. Maj. Duvall expressed belief the plane is down about 500 miles from Kwajalein.

Wife Receives Letter

Armstrong wired Mrs. Nelson that an intensive search is being made of the Pacific area where the plane is believed down. He said the plane, from the Fairfield-Suisun base, was missing on the flight from Kwajalein to Harman field on Guam.

Mrs. Nelson received a letter at noon Monday from her husband, dated May 21 and mailed from Honolulu, in which he said he was on the first leg of the flight to Kwajalein in the Marshall islands. He had flown to Honolulu on the "Globestar," an ATC plane piloted by a former Virginia Polytechnic institute classmate, James Sullivan, this city.

Sgt. Nelson also wrote that he was transferring to the mail plane due to a shortage of men to man the craft, and said he would write when he reached Kwajalein.

Served in Italy

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, Winchester road, Sgt. Nelson enlisted in the army in September, 1940, and served overseas two years with the First fighter group in England, North Africa and Italy. He re-enlisted in the air forces in February and was stationed at Bolling field, Washington. He went to Hamilton field, Calif., April 6 from Bolling field, and had made two flights out of the California base.

Sgt. Nelson, a graduate of Allegany high school, operated the former Colonial tavern, now the home of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Greene street, and then worked at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant before joining the army.

Legion Turns Down Move To Give $100 To Playground Fund

Members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, meeting in the Legion home, Harrison street, last night, defeated a motion to donate $100 to the City Playground fund.

The motion was made by John Kelly, but several members objected on the grounds that the plan proposed and sponsored by the commissioner is not a satisfactory one, and that too many haphazard plans of this nature have been attempted here from time to time.

During the discussion on the motion, it was disclosed that the membership favored an investigation of the fund, its use, and the nature and placement of equipment which is to be purchased for playgrounds.

Robert Chisholm decried the lack of any co-ordinated recreational or properly supervised playground program in the city of Cumberland. He said a city of this size should have something besides an individual plan to buy a little equipment.

Other members expressed the view that if the American Legion really wants to do something in the way of improving facilities of playgrounds, that it conduct a thorough investigation of this type of program, determine what is involved and determine the cost.

Commander Samuel A. Graham appointed Chisholm chairman of a committee to make an investigation of the City Playground fund plan, and to make a report on playgrounds to the membership.

Chamber Committee Reviews Road Program

A previously outlined program of the state roads commission for development of highways and improvement of bridges in this area was reviewed at a meeting of the Highways and Transportation committee of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon.

Members of the committee expressed the opinion that it would be advisable to discuss the plans with the commission and see what can be done to put them into effect.

The local traffic situation also was discussed, but the committee deferred action until after a report on a traffic survey is submitted by Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman to the municipal planning and zoning commission.

Flintstone Post Office Is Robbed Over the Weekend

Thieves Escape with $58.98 after Breaking Open Safe

Postal authorities said last evening they believed amateurs were responsible for the robbery of $58.98 from the safe of the Flintstone post office over the weekend.

The post office of the community, thirteen miles east of here on Route 40, was entered, probably Sunday morning, by thieves who forced open a side window which had been securely nailed to the window frame, it was reported.

A clue to the time of the robbery may be found in an electric clock which stopped at 12:12. Authorities said they presumed the timepiece was stopped when the thieves pulled it down from a desk just under the window through which the robbers entered.

The robbery was discovered early Monday morning at 6:30 o'clock when the postmistress entered the building and found the safe forced and the contents of the building scattered over the floor.

Authorities said that most of the loss resulted from currency taken in when a $50 money order was issued Saturday. The other $8.98 consisted of currency and change.

Authorities said it was apparent the thieves sought only cash, since money order forms, blank bonds and over $200 worth of stamps of common denominations were not taken, but were scattered wildly over the floor of the office.

The thieves, authorities said, forced the three-foot safe by using some heavy instrument such as a crowbar, adding the job was crudely done and that the metal of the safe was badly damaged.

The haul, authorities said, would have been much greater had not the postmistress remitted over $300 in cash which was on hand Saturday morning.

State police were assisting in the investigation of the robbery which, authorities said, is one of a series reported in Flintstone in recent months.

Mt. Savage Man Held for Theft In Local Home

Joseph Dorsey, 20, Mt. Savage, who Detective Lt. R. Emmett Flynn said confessed last evening to the theft of $50 from a local home yesterday, will be questioned this morning at the state's attorney's office.

Dorsey, Lt. Flynn said, declared he entered the front door of the home of Mrs. John Fishel, 635 Elm street, yesterday while the local woman was upstairs with her children.

Police said they recovered $39 of the money which Dorsey found in a wallet in the cabinet in the dining room of the home. Authorities said none of the doors of the home were locked.

Still under investigation is the theft of a plumber's furnace, two joints of pipe and a quantity of lead which Ray H. Lapp, 716 Oldtown road, reported was stolen from a vacant home on Avondale avenue last Thursday.

Floyd McGraw, Fort Cumberland hotel, reported that two extension ratchets, two pairs of sockets and pliers and a jacket and a cap were stolen from his car parked at a South Centre street parking lot last Saturday.

Hiner's Market, 17 Virginia avenue was broken into between 2 p. m. Sunday and 7:30 Monday morning, police reported yesterday. A check of stock showed only a few packages of cigarets to be missing.

Police said the culprit, believed to be a small boy, smashed a window in the rear of the building and then broke a panel door on the inside to gain admittance to the store.

No Immediate Danger Of Flood in City

City officials here last night reported no immediate danger of a flood, despite heavy rainfall which swelled the waters of the Potomac river and Wills creek.

Rainfall for the month is reported at 3.91 inches as compared to 3.33 normal, and it is the first time this year the monthly total has been above average.

Total rainfall for the year to date amounts to 10.26 inches, while the normal for the first five months is 14.45 inchmes.

Officials said last night that water in the river and creek here is still about ten feet below flood stage.

J. I. Vandegrift, Contractor, Dies Of Heart Attack

Was Well Known Musician and Member of Insurance Firm

John Isaac Vandegrift, 65, president of the John I. Vandegrift Company, oldest and second largest general contracting firm in Western Maryland, died just before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he was stricken with a heart attack at the luncheon of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club in Central YMCA.

Mr. Vandegrift, a former director of the Kiwanis club and a member of the organization for about twenty years, had just finished introducing a new member, Thomas H. Cullen, manager of the Queen City Paint and Glass Company, when he was stricken. He slumped over in his chair shortly after sitting down and slipped to the floor.

Two physicians, Dr. C. L. Owens and Dr. Winter R. Frantz, who were attending the luncheon, gave him immediate attention, but he failed to recover consciousness and died within a few minutes. Mr. Vandegrift suffered a previous heart attack about three years ago.

Born near Romney

Born on a farm in Hampshire county, W. Va., near Romney, May 13, 1881, Mr. Vandegrift moved to Ridgeley, W. Va., at the age of 20, and in 1904 started in business for himself as a building contractor.

Later he became a member of the firm of Schmutz, Vandegrift and Welch, oldest insurance agency in Western Maryland, and was well known in music circles as a French horn player. Mr. Vandegrift likewise was well known and respected for his great interest in civic affairs. Although it was not generally known, he contributed freely and liberally to appeals for financial aid from organizations and individuals.

A son of the late William L. and Margaret Haines Vandegrift, Mr. Vandegrift learned his trade as a carpenter under his brother, the late James T. Vandegrift, who operated a contracting business in Ridgeley. He worked for his brother for several years before starting his own contracting firm in Ridgeley in 1904. He moved his business to Cumberland in 1910.

Although Mr. Vandegrift was the contractor for a number of dwellings after first going into business, work in later years was devoted largely to construction of public, commercial and industrial buildings. The firm was incorporated in 1938.

Built Four Armories

Among the construction jobs completed are SS. Peter and Paul school, state armories in Cumberland, Hagerstown, Silver Spring and Kensington, McCrory stores in Cumberland, Hagerstown and Frederick and Canonsburg, Pa.; the Community, Ort's and Schmidt's bakeries here, the Schmidt bakery at Martinsburg, and McIntyre's bakery in Westernport; First Baptist church here and factory buildings at the Celanese plant.

Mr. Vandegrift also had the contract for construction of the original buildings of the Cumberland Fair Association, including the grandstand, exhibition buildings and stables. A job now underway is remodeling of the Woodmen of the World home on Union street.

As a musician, Mr. Vandegrift was one of the organizers of the Ali Ghan Shrine band and was one of its first presidents. He also played in the Cumberland Municipal Band from the time it was organized until it disbanded a number of years ago.

Mr. Vandegrift was a Thirty-second degree Mason, and was a member of Ohr Lodge, No. 131, A. F. and A. M., all of the Scottish Rite bodies and Ali Ghan Temple of the Shrine.

Former Trustee of Church

After moving to Cumberland Mr. Vandegrift became a member of the First Baptist church and was active in its affairs. He was a trustee of the church for many years although not at the time of his death.

He also was a member of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce for many years and served on a number of committees of the organization.

Mr. Vandegrift is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances A. Martin Vandegrift, who resides at their home, 828 Buckingham road, The Dingle.

Also surviving are four sons, Edgar D. Vandegrift, Cumberland, secretary of the John I. Vandegrift Company; William A. Vandegrift, Hyattsville, former attorney and now manager of Dickey Brothers, building supply firm located at Hyattsville; John F. Vandegrift, Cumberland, proprietor of the Music Shop, Incorporated, and Carl S. Vandegrift, at home, who is associated with the contracting firm; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred V. Storer, Cumberland; and Mrs. Dorothy V. Fleming, Glens Falls, N. Y.; two grandchildren, Ann Carylon and Susan Fleming; two brothers, Ira H. and W. Harley Vandegrift, Cumberland; and two sisters, the Misses Ada and Bess Vandegrift, Cumberland.

Funeral Friday

Funeral services will be held 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home with the Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, pastor of First Baptist church, officiating. Services will be in charge of the Masonic lodge. Interment will be in Rose Hill cemetery.

State Police Here Are Checking Cars

State police are now checking all automobiles stopped for any reason for mechanical defects and driver's qualifications as part of a safety campaign in co-operation with the International Association of Chiefs of Police, according to First Sgt. John H. Doud, of the LaVale barracks.

Sgt. Doud said the routine check will include brakes, lights, horns, windshield wipers and tires. He added that each trooper stationed here carries a device for checking brakes "on the spot." He advised car owners to check their vehicles now.

The drive was ordered by Col. Beverly Ober, superintendent of the state police, at the request of President Truman. The campaign started May 15 and will run for forty more days.

Proposal Is Made To Erect Stadium As War Memorial

American Legion Names Chisholm Chairman of Investigating Committee

A committee was named by Commander Samuel A. Graham of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion at a regular meeting last night, to investigate the possibilities of obtaining the Community ball park, and some adjacent property, to be used for the erection of a large stadium as a war memorial.

Robert Chisholm made the proposal, expressing the view that the idea of a war memorial for Cumberland should be taken out of the talking stage and put in the action stage. Chisholm said he has driven and walked over all parts of the city, and there seems to be no other suitable place where there is sufficient ground.

He expressed the opinion that most people seem to agree on a stadium or large ball park, as the type of memorial structure Cumberland should have. He said he was aware that the Legion now leases the ground and that an effort was made to buy it at one time. He added, conditions change and perhaps the owners and controllers would now relinquish it for this purpose.

The proposal resulted in heated discussion with several members of World War I, explaining their experiences with this project and their failure to make any progress in procuring the property.

Committee Named

Wesley H. Abrams made a motion that a War Memorial committee be appointed to investigate Chisholm's proposal and that Chisholm be named chairman of the committee.

Graham appointed the following to investigate and make an effort to acquire the property: Robert Chisholm, chairman, Michael J. Brady, Wesley H. Abrams, John Sloan, Philip Fleming, Suter Kegg, John Kelly, Jr., F. Allan Weatherholt and John Neff.

It was suggested by Howard P. Loughrie, that the Sunday Times be asked to carry a veterans' page or section as is done by most metropolitan papers coming into the city. Loughrie said that all during the war, and even now, he has been curious to know why this policy wasn't established by the local Sunday paper, and believed it should be given some consideration.

Commander Graham explained he had contacted the editor of the Sunday paper about a year and a half ago on this same idea, but at that time it was explained that many features and departments in the paper had to be discontinued due to the shortage of newsprint. Graham said the Sunday Times had considered the idea, but had adopted a policy, so he was told, of introducing no new features or departments at the time.

Graham said he would again contact the papers to see if such a department could be set aside for veterans' news and information of value and interest to the veteran.

A request by J. Milton Dick, member of the House of Delegates, state of Maryland, to indorse an amendment to the State Unemployment Insurance act, was tabled for investigation.

Amendment Discussed

The amendment is designed to provide unemployment insurance payments on a weekly basis for women workers, now normally covered by insurance, who will voluntarily become unemployed and give up their jobs so a veteran can be hired.

The amendment comes before the legislative council June 6, and the next meeting of the Legion is June 11. The action denies Dick of the support of the Legion at the legislative council hearing in Baltimore, although several other groups have given it their indorsement in the interest of putting veterans in jobs. Dick said last night when informed of the local post's failure to lend the amendment its indorsement.

Reports were made on the progress of softball and baseball teams sponsored by the Legion. There was also some discussion on plans to improve the grandstand at Community park, and Commander Graham clarified the question by saying materials to do the necessary work are not available.

Kennedy Will Be Taken to Pittsburgh On Federal Charges

James Leonard Kennedy, 29, of Corriganville, arrested here a week ago on a charge of stealing an auto owned by Melvin C. Abe, of Ridgley, W. Va., and taking it to Portage, Pa., will be taken to Pittsburgh, Pa., today, to face federal charges, Deputy United States Marshall Howard P. Loughrie said yesterday. Kennedy has been confined to the county jail here.

Arraigned before Judge William E. Baker, in United States District Court, Wheeling, W. Va., three defendants waived indictment by grand jury and pleaded guilty.

One of these, Franklin Haines, 19, pleaded guilty to a charge of transporting a stolen automobile from Virginia to Romney, W. Va., on May 1. He appeared before the court without counsel, and Judge Baker appointed Lester C. Hess as his representative.

Airline Plays Big Role In Saving Child's Life

A Morgantown, W. Va., airline played an important role in saving the life of a two-pound premature baby recently, the daughter of a former soldier and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Chester C. Steyer, Gorman, Garrett county.

The child was reported recovering yesterday after the Globair airline rushed the child to Pittsburgh from Clarksburg in a twin engine Cessna in thirty-five minutes. In Pittsburgh, the child is having the benefit of a hospital especially equipped to take care of premature infants. The mother is recovering in a Philippi hospital.

Dr. Edna Jeffreys, Philippi, ushered the baby into the world and last week little hope was held for the child's survival.

Celanese Reports Veterans Program To Legion Post

Company Had 5,025 in Service; 3,277 Re-employed and 210 Killed

A report concerning employes who have served in World War II, compiled by Edward R. Allan, superintendent of personnel of the Celanese Corporation of America, was submitted to Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, last night, and ordered included in the minutes.

The report shows that 5,025 Celanese employes have been inducted into the armed services. Of this number 3,277 have been given reemployment following discharge.

There are only thirty-one veterans not presently employed, but on furlough, the report shows. In these few cases, it is explained, other employment of a temporary nature has been offered, but the veterans prefer to remain on furlough until acceptable jobs are available.

A total of 210 Celanese employes made the supreme sacrifice or have been reported missing in action. To compensate for this number, 209 veterans, not previously employed by the company have been placed in jobs.

The report continues that it is interesting to note that 279 veterans of those returning have subsequently left Celanese employ. There are sixty-three receiving government assistance, having been certified for On-the-Job Training.

Thirty-one veterans have been granted leaves of absence desiring full-time attendance in credited schools, as provided under the Veterans' Assistance Program.

The company has also faced the problem of placement of disabled veterans, and the report makes this explanation:

"An analysis of the honorable discharges would indicate that 233 of all veterans who have returned were given disability discharges. Of this number, fifty-six were considered seriously handicapped and required special consideration. Many more, anxious to obtain their release from the armed services, neglected to report their disabilities, thereby denying themselves of medical care to which they are entitled. In all such cases the veteran has been counselled to report his case at once to the Veterans Administration."

"Thus far," the report concludes, "the Celanese has been able to find suitable placement for every disabled veteran who is desirous of working, no matter what his injury; and with the continuance of the co-operation of all, we shall bend every effort to maintain this one-hundred percent record.

Cement Company Wins Price Increase

The Cumberland Cement and Supply Company will be granted a two-cent price increase on the 1,000-pound test concrete block, the state OPA office in Baltimore announced yesterday.

Officials stated that the application for price relief has cleared the Baltimore office and is in Washington, where automatic approval will be given.

No formal action has been taken on the request of the Cement Products Company for price relief but figures are being assembled and if they show a justification, relief will be allowed, it was stated.

At a meeting with OPA officials here last Wednesday, Cement Products representatives stated the firm would stop making blocks June 1 unless ceiling prices were increased.

Cement blocks are one of the main items used in the construction of many small homes as the walls of some are entirely of block. The raising of ceilings would appear to indicate that this bottleneck in construction locally will soon be overcome as far as prices are concerned.

County Commissioners May Make Contribution To Westernport Library

A delegation of Westernport citizens who yesterday petitioned for a contribution of $50 for their library from the board of county commissioners yesterday were told that an effort will be made to "make some sort of contribution."

The delegation said that the library has been in operation for twenty-one years. The members of the group included Helen Engle, Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Naomi Fischer, L. Krantz, Nellie H. McCoy and Mayor Milton McIntyre.

Mayor McIntyre also requested that an investigation be made to limit the weight of trucks using a bridge spanning George's creek in Westernport. County Engineer John H. Carscaden was asked to check on the request.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall advised the board that the 155 mm. howitzer to be placed on the court house lawn as a memorial of World War II, has been shipped from the Army Ordnance depot, Anniston, Ala., according to a message from Maj. E. S. Hughes, chief of ordnance.

Green's Campaign For Re-election To Be Curtailed

Wife Is Admitted to a Baltimore Hospital for Operation

Simeon W. Green, chairman of the board of county commissioners who is running for re-election, admitted this week that his campaign activities will be sharply curtailed for the next few weeks due to injuries received by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Green, in an auto accident on May 16.

Green was in Baltimore yesterday where his wife was scheduled to have an operation and the commissioner said that in all likelihood he would spend the major portion of his time in that city the next couple of weeks.

Mrs. Green received serious injuries when the car in which she and her husband were riding hit another car head on at the top of Sideling Hill, Route 40, on May 16. State police reported that it was raining at the time of the accident and that there was considerable fog.

Undergoes Operation

Both Mr. and Mrs. Green were taken to Memorial hospital where Mrs. Green was admitted and Commissioner Green treated for shock and minor injuries. Last week Mrs. Green was removed to a Baltimore hospital where an operation was scheduled yesterday on her left leg. Mrs. Green suffered a splintered leg bone in the accident, near the hip, which physicians said called for a surgical operation and wiring.

Meanwhile, Nelson W. Russler, also a candidate for the Republican nomination for commissioner, said yesterday that he regretted that Mrs. Green had been injured and also the fact that it places Commissioner Green "at such a disadvantage as far as his campaign activities are concerned."

Russler Promises Aid

Russler said "And Green can rest assured that I for one, will not take advantage of the situation and will endeavor to help him all I can."

Green was at the court house Monday when he signed a number of county checks and took care of other county business but was not present at yesterday's board meeting. Court house attaches said yesterday that the commissioner was "shaken up" more than he will admit in the auto accident and said he was considerably worried about his wife.

Legion Will Appoint Nominating Committee

The new Department of Maryland Commander Martin Iverson, of Baltimore, accompanied by Department Adjutant J. Nelson Tribey, will make his first official visit to the local post, and will also meet with officers here to discuss plans for the annual convention to be held here in August.

Commander Graham said Frank Powers, Frostburg, vice commander of the Mountain district and all post commanders within the district are expected to attend. Ray Berg, of Piedmont, W. Va., commander of the State Department of West Virginia is also expected to attend.

Veterans Are Invited To Appear in Parade

Capt. Thomas F. Conlon, chairman of the Memorial day program sponsored by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, last night extended an invitation to all veterans of all wars to participate in the parade and services tomorrow.

The parade will form at 10 a. m. at the Maryland State Armory, South Centre street, and will proceed to Rose Hill cemetery for a Memorial service. Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland will be the Memorial day speaker.

Signing 669 High School Diplomas Takes Kopp and Dashiell Two Hours

School Officials Work Out Assembly Line System for Big Job

Working at the rate of six diplomas per minute, it required approximately two hours yesterday for Superintendent Charles L. Kopp and Board President E. A. Dashiell to put their John Hancock's on 669 high school diplomas that will be awarded to as many Allegany county high school graduates in the next few days.

The signing of the diplomas, an annual event in Kopp's roomy office, is no haphazard affair. Efficiency is the keynote and the job is done with assembly line precision.

Overcomes Disadvantage

After signing his name, which has ten letters, to the diplomas he sort of shoves it with his elbow to Kopp. Kopp, whose full name has twelve letters, next signs it hurriedly, he having to keep at full speed to offset the advantage Dashiell has.

Kopp then feeds the finished product to Mrs. Anna Crosser Thwaites who carefully arranges the diplomas in neat rows on the floor. This is to insure that the signatures dry without blotting. She starts her first row over in the corner of the office near the electric light socket and then curves the rows about the room, leaving a small corridor to allow callers to come in and out. By the time she is through the floor is well-papered with all the gold seals on the diplomas displayed in perfect symmetry.

Machine Helps Out

In regarding the diplomas strewn about the floor of Kopp's office, one notes that the name of Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools, has been affixed before hand. Inquiry reveals that Mr. Pullen does not actually affix his signature to each and every one of the thousands and thousands of diplomas that are awarded in Maryland every year. Mr. Pullen has a machine that does the work for him.

After the signing of the diplomas with what Kopp jocosely termed "eternal ink" and the drying, the documents are stacked for delivery to the various county high schools —188 to Allegany high this year, 166 to Fort Hill and so on—ready for the big event.

LaVale Wife Says Mate Won't Work

Mrs. Grace Leona Durr Conner, LaVale, yesterday filed suit in circuit court for a divorce from her husband, William Earl Conner, a former sailor, on the grounds that "he refused to work" and "disappeared" after drawing his unemployment compensation check.

The wife, represented by Urner G. Carl, said they were married in 1943 at Westernport and lived together until April of this year. She said Conner entered the navy in May, 1944, and was discharged last January.

Mrs. Conner asserted that she works at Celanese and has established a home but since her husband left the service "he has refused to work and was content to draw $80 monthly" in jobless compensation. She added that he received a $20 check on May 3 and then disappeared."

Chief Judge William A. Huster signed an order to restrain Conner from entering the home or molesting his wife.

Mrs. Wilma E. Bucy Gadbois, 26, 402 Memorial avenue, has been granted an absolute divorce from Henry D. Gadbois, in a decree signed by Judge Huster. She was also given the custody of their son, aged four, and Gadbois was ordered to pay her $90 a month for the child's support. The wife, represented by William L. Wilson, Jr., said they were married in 1938 and lived together until March 4 this year.

New Construction Totals $24,875, Report Indicates

Building permits calling for $24,875 worth of new construction were granted at the city engineer's office during the past month, according to a report released yesterday.

Estimated construction costs for the twenty-four building permits issued last month totaled $41,510. Eight permits were for new construction and the remaining sixteen were for improvements or additions totaling $16,635.

Twenty applications for occupancy permits were made. Seventeen were granted by the city engineer, and the remainder were appealed to the board of zoning appeals. Two were granted by the board, and the third is pending. The board will hold its next meeting June 4.

F. R. Garland, representing the Cumberland Petroleum Company, secured an occupancy permit yesterday to use Lots 597, 598, 599, 600 and 601 on Robert street for a bulk gasoline and fuel oil storage plant, provided the city sells the five lots to the firm and grants the permit for a bulk storage plant.

The lots are located in an industrial zone. Steel storage tanks planned for storage facilities will be fourteen feet high.

No formal application to the mayor and city council for purchasing the lots has been made so far. The council has the final say in granting gasoline storage permits. Granting of the occupancy permit means that the lots are suitable for that purpose as far as zoning is concerned.

A permit was granted to Peter J. Decker, 917 Grand avenue, to enlarge and enclose a rear porch at his home for use as a bedroom. The new room will be 14 by 16 feet. Work, estimated to cost $400, will be done by DeSales Mattingly.

Edwin H. Nelson Reported Missing On Pacific Flight

Intensive Search Is Started for C-54, Believed Down at Sea

Staff Sgt. Edwin H. "Ted" Nelson, radio operator on a C-54 army transport, has been reported missing since Sunday on a flight from Kwajalein to Guam, according to a telegram received Monday by his wife, Mrs. Ann Malloy Nelson, 328 Cumberland street, from W. C. Armstrong, commanding officer of the Fairfield-Suisun army base at Fairfield, Calif.

Maj. Ben Duvall, of the army transport command, said the plane was on a regular mail-freight run and that it gave three positions en route to Guam and then was silent. Maj. Duvall expressed belief the plane is down about 500 miles from Kwajalein.

Wife Receives Letter

Armstrong wired Mrs. Nelson that an intensive search is being made of the Pacific area where the plane is believed down. He said the plane, from the Fairfield-Suisun base, was missing on the flight from Kwajalein to Harman field on Guam.

Mrs. Nelson received a letter at noon Monday from her husband, dated May 21 and mailed from Honolulu, in which he said he was on the first leg of the flight to Kwajalein in the Marshall islands. He had flown to Honolulu on the "Globestar," an ATC plane piloted by a former Virginia Polytechnic institute classmate, James Sullivan, this city.

Sgt. Nelson also wrote that he was transferring to the mail plane due to a shortage of men to man the craft, and said he would write when he reached Kwajalein.

Served in Italy

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nelson, Winchester road, Sgt. Nelson enlisted in the army in September, 1940, and served overseas two years with the First fighter group in England, North Africa and Italy. He re-enlisted in the air forces in February and was stationed at Bolling field, Washington. He went to Hamilton field, Calif., April 6 from Bolling field, and had made two flights out of the California base.

Sgt. Nelson, a graduate of Allegany high school, operated the former Colonial tavern, now the home of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, Greene street, and then worked at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant before joining the army.

Legion Turns Down Move To Give $100 To Playground Fund

Members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, meeting in the Legion home, Harrison street, last night, defeated a motion to donate $100 to the City Playground fund.

The motion was made by John Kelly, but several members objected on the grounds that the plan proposed and sponsored by the commissioner is not a satisfactory one, and that too many haphazard plans of this nature have been attempted here from time to time.

During the discussion on the motion, it was disclosed that the membership favored an investigation of the fund, its use, and the nature and placement of equipment which is to be purchased for playgrounds.

Robert Chisholm decried the lack of any co-ordinated recreational or properly supervised playground program in the city of Cumberland. He said a city of this size should have something besides an individual plan to buy a little equipment.

Other members expressed the view that if the American Legion really wants to do something in the way of improving facilities of playgrounds, that it conduct a thorough investigation of this type of program, determine what is involved and determine the cost.

Commander Samuel A. Graham appointed Chisholm chairman of a committee to make an investigation of the City Playground fund plan, and to make a report on playgrounds to the membership.

Chamber Committee Reviews Road Program

A previously outlined program of the state roads commission for development of highways and improvement of bridges in this area was reviewed at a meeting of the Highways and Transportation committee of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon.

Members of the committee expressed the opinion that it would be advisable to discuss the plans with the commission and see what can be done to put them into effect.

The local traffic situation also was discussed, but the committee deferred action until after a report on a traffic survey is submitted by Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman to the municipal planning and zoning commission.

Flintstone Post Office Is Robbed Over the Weekend

Thieves Escape with $58.98 after Breaking Open Safe

Postal authorities said last evening they believed amateurs were responsible for the robbery of $58.98 from the safe of the Flintstone post office over the weekend.

The post office of the community, thirteen miles east of here on Route 40, was entered, probably Sunday morning, by thieves who forced open a side window which had been securely nailed to the window frame, it was reported.

A clue to the time of the robbery may be found in an electric clock which stopped at 12:12. Authorities said they presumed the timepiece was stopped when the thieves pulled it down from a desk just under the window through which the robbers entered.

The robbery was discovered early Monday morning at 6:30 o'clock when the postmistress entered the building and found the safe forced and the contents of the building scattered over the floor.

Authorities said that most of the loss resulted from currency taken in when a $50 money order was issued Saturday. The other $8.98 consisted of currency and change.

Authorities said it was apparent the thieves sought only cash, since money order forms, blank bonds and over $200 worth of stamps of common denominations were not taken, but were scattered wildly over the floor of the office.

The thieves, authorities said, forced the three-foot safe by using some heavy instrument such as a crowbar, adding the job was crudely done and that the metal of the safe was badly damaged.

The haul, authorities said, would have been much greater had not the postmistress remitted over $300 in cash which was on hand Saturday morning.

State police were assisting in the investigation of the robbery which, authorities said, is one of a series reported in Flintstone in recent months.

Mt. Savage Man Held for Theft In Local Home

Joseph Dorsey, 20, Mt. Savage, who Detective Lt. R. Emmett Flynn said confessed last evening to the theft of $50 from a local home yesterday, will be questioned this morning at the state's attorney's office.

Dorsey, Lt. Flynn said, declared he entered the front door of the home of Mrs. John Fishel, 635 Elm street, yesterday while the local woman was upstairs with her children.

Police said they recovered $39 of the money which Dorsey found in a wallet in the cabinet in the dining room of the home. Authorities said none of the doors of the home were locked.

Still under investigation is the theft of a plumber's furnace, two joints of pipe and a quantity of lead which Ray H. Lapp, 716 Oldtown road, reported was stolen from a vacant home on Avondale avenue last Thursday.

Floyd McGraw, Fort Cumberland hotel, reported that two extension ratchets, two pairs of sockets and pliers and a jacket and a cap were stolen from his car parked at a South Centre street parking lot last Saturday.

Hiner's Market, 17 Virginia avenue was broken into between 2 p. m. Sunday and 7:30 Monday morning, police reported yesterday. A check of stock showed only a few packages of cigarets to be missing.

Police said the culprit, believed to be a small boy, smashed a window in the rear of the building and then broke a panel door on the inside to gain admittance to the store.

Mr. Vandegrift, a former director of the Kiwanis club and a member of the organization for about twenty years, had just finished introducing a new member, Thomas H. Cullen, manager of the Queen City Paint and Glass Company, when he was stricken. He slumped over in his chair shortly after sitting down and slipped to the floor.

Two physicians, Dr. C. L. Owens and Dr. Winter R. Frantz, who were attending the luncheon, gave him immediate attention, but he failed to recover consciousness and died within a few minutes. Mr. Vandegrift suffered a previous heart attack about three years ago.

A son of the late William L. and Margaret Haines Vandegrift, Mr. Vandegrift learned his trade as a carpenter under his brother, the late James T. Vandegrift, who operated a contracting business in Ridgeley. He worked for his brother for several years before starting his own contracting firm in Ridgeley in 1904. He moved his business to Cumberland in 1910.

Although Mr. Vandegrift was the contractor for a number of dwellings after first going into business, work in later years was devoted largely to construction of public, commercial and industrial buildings. The firm was incorporated in 1938.

Mr. Vandegrift also had the contract for construction of the original buildings of the Cumberland Fair Association, including the grandstand, exhibition buildings and stables. A job now underway is remodeling of the Woodmen of the World home on Union street.

As a musician, Mr. Vandegrift was one of the organizers of the Ali Ghan Shrine band and was one of its first presidents. He also played in the Cumberland Municipal Band from the time it was organized until it disbanded a number of years ago.

Mr. Vandegrift was a Thirty-second degree Mason, and was a member of Ohr Lodge, No. 131, A. F. and A. M., all of the Scottish Rite bodies and Ali Ghan Temple of the Shrine.

State Police Here Are Checking Cars

State police are now checking all automobiles stopped for any reason for mechanical defects and driver's qualifications as part of a safety campaign in co-operation with the International Association of Chiefs of Police, according to First Sgt. John H. Doud, of the LaVale barracks.

Sgt. Doud said the routine check will include brakes, lights, horns, windshield wipers and tires. He added that each trooper stationed here carries a device for checking brakes "on the spot." He advised car owners to check their vehicles now.

The drive was ordered by Col. Beverly Ober, superintendent of the state police, at the request of President Truman. The campaign started May 15 and will run for forty more days.
